Ford To Employ 5,000 Veterans At Motor Plant

Those With Fine War Records To Get Employment

Legion Head to Hire 300 Men Daily Until Quota is Filled—Ford Company Declines to Comment on Action.

DETROIT, Sept. 16.—Rex Humphrey, commander of the Wayne County Council of the American Legion, announced yesterday the Ford Moto· Co., had authorized hi mto employ 5,000 war veterans for the company's Detroit plants.

Humphreys said 300 veterans a day will be hired by him, beginning Monday, until the quota is filled. The Ford company declined to make any comment on the employment.

Humphrey said all men hired must produce papers to show that they have "a fine war record."

TWO VICTIMS FATAL CRASH PROGRESSING

No Change Noted in Grave Condition of Mary Lautos

Slight improvement was noted on Saturday morning in the condition of Colin Williams, who suffered a fractured skull in the automobile crash on the St. Albert trail which claimed the life of Joyce Perriee on Thursday night. Dr. W. H. Hustler, attending physician and surgeon, is hopeful Williams will recover.

Williams, said Dr. Hustler, had had short periods of consciousness during morning but from time of the accident until Saturday he had been in a state of coma.

Authorities were guarded in their statements regarding the condition of Mary Lautos, injured in the same crash and also suffering from a fractured skull.

Her condition was reported as unchanged. She has been unconscious since the accident and in a critical condition.

Alexander Clark, driver of the death car, also severely injured with facial lacerations, a broken collar bone and internal injuries is reported as coming along nicely.

Other accident victims of Thursday, including Mrs. James East, wife of Alderman East, are progressing toward recovery. Mrs. East suffered a broken collar bone and is a patient at the General hospital.

Jean Potvin, six-year-old Legal boy, injured when struck by a motor car at Legal, is also reported as progressing by General hospital authorities.

Chief provincial coroner, Dr. E. A. Braithwaite and his jury opened the inquest into the death of Joyce Perriee, Saturday morning and after formal identification of the body was made, released it for burial. The coroner's court probe into the St. Albert trail tragedy was adjourned for a week and will be adjourned from time to time until the principal witnesses recover sufficiently to undergo questioning.

ARAB KING BURIED WITH SIMPLE RITES

Thousands Garbed in Black Pay Last Respects to Feisal

BAGDAD, Iraq, Sept. 16.—Thousands of his former subjects crowded into this city yesterday as the body of the late King Feisal was returned from Switzerland and buried in a vaulted tomb of the Royal Family near the Parliament building.

The King died suddenly of a heart attack at Berne, Switzerland, where he was undergoing medical treatment.

Thousands lined the way as the funeral procession proceeded to the burial place. The flat roofs of the houses along the route were covered with Moslem women garbed in black who were anxious to pay their last tribute in tears to the Arab king.

The religious ceremonies at the graveside were simple. The Moslem priests intoned a few prayers and the coffin then was lowered into the vault.

GIVES DENIAL OF WAR IDEAS

BERLIN, Sept. 16—Germany's foreign minister, Konstantin von Neurath, in an interview with foreign correspondents Friday, clearly defined Germany's attitude toward the coming disarmament conference, blaming the "Spirit of the Versailles system" for political disorder.

The foreign minister complained there had been no let-up in the spirit of the Versailles treaty discernible thus far, and said: "We are unable to see any signs of an early satisfactory solution."

Herr von Neurath contended that the four-power pact should not be aaimed at keeping down one partner to the agreement, but on the contrary, must give all equal rights.

"Germany is the only country menaced," he said. He described suspicions abroad that Germany was using a period of peace to prepare for war as a "Mere flight of fancy unsupportable by facts."

E. H. Coleman, K.C., Is Appointed Under Secretary Of State

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—E. H. Coleman, K.C., of Winnipeg, has been made under-secretary of state and deputy registrar-general of Canada, it was announced today. Jos. Oscar Patenaude of Ottawa has been named king's printer, and Napoleon Garceau, K.C., of Drummondville, is appointed member of the board of railway commissioners.

Settlement Scheme

CALGARY, Sept. 16—Eleven jobless families, seeking Alberta government authority to settle as a co-operative community on land near Keith, north of here, were making preparations for the move today while awaiting word from the provincial administration. There are 13 children in the families who intend pooling resources in their scheme.

She is prominent in San Francisco and Oakland society.

NEGOTIATORS FOR OPERATORS AGREE WITH PROPOSALS

Approval of All Parties is Expected Today — Code Calls for 40-hour Week With Ranging Wages in Varied Areas.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Hugh S. Johnson, the United States Recovery administrator, announced late last night that a bituminous coal code had been agreed upon by the conference committee of the operators and had been submitted to a general meeting at which final approval was expected.

The administrator made the announcement just 25 hours after the breakup of a White House conference Thursday night at which President Roosevelt gave the industry 24 hours in which to reach an agreement.

Johnson said he expected the code to be ready for the president's signature today.

He said some of the operators signed last night as it was the recommendation of the committee.

The code called for a maximum work week of 40 hours. Wages

SOLDIERS JOIN SEARCH FOR GIRL

HONOLULU, Sept. 16—Outrigger canoes manned by stout muscled Hawaiians and a detail of soldiers from Fort de Mrussey, at Waikiki, continued the search yesterday for Miss Maude Philp, 54, former school teacher of Winnipeg, Man., who disappeared Monday and was last seen in a bathing suit.

A navy plane circled the Waikiki area usually frequented by swimmers several times Thursday without finding any trace of the woman's body. Fear was expressed she might have been drowned and her body swept by the tide to outside of the Waikiki Reef. Should this be true, there is no hope for its recovery.

Miss Philp retired recently as a school teacher in Winnipeg, and came here immediately to make her home. Friends said she was a strong swimmer.

TODAY'S ODDEST NEWS

HE'LL KEEP HANDS IN POCKETS NEXT TIME

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Next time Joseph Strecansky will keep his hands in his pockets—and he won't be so polite.

Joseph, 13 years old and always willing to do a favor, was standing on a street corner when a woman walked up.

"Please hold my baby a minute, will you?" she asked.

"Yes, ma'am," said Joseph, with a bow. "I'd be glad to."

Joseph held the baby until the shades of night were falling and then appealed to a policeman. The child was taken to a foundling hospital.

TURKEY PUT TOO MUCH FAITH IN WATCH DOG

SHELTON, Conn., Sept. 16.—The prize turkey in Fred Nichol's flock used sound logic, but put too much faith in the watch dog.

The turkey picked out the top of the dog kennel as a good safe place to roost at night. Nichols is now looking for his turkey and a purchaser for his dog. A thief stole the bird and the dog didn't even bark.

TICKLES THE IVORIES AT 94 YEARS OF AGE

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—A mere matter of 94 years doesn't keep Henry Cowles Smith from "tickling the ivories."

A professor emeritus of Latin and music at North Central College, Naperville, Ill., he was selected to play the piano tonight at the Hall of Religion at a century of progress.

Seconds Gas Combine Investigation Motion

VANCOUVER, Sppt. 16—"Certainly there should be an investigation," said Mayor L. D. Taylor of Vancouver yesterday commenting on declaration of Mayor David A. Croll of Windsor, Ont., that an application for a probe of the Canadian gasoline business is under way. "There is plenty of evidence there must be a combine," said Mr. Taylor.

INVESTORS ARE INTERESTED IN INVESTIGATION

Extraordinary Meeting of Edmonton Credit Co. Called

Keen interest in local investment circles has been aroused over the calling of an extraordinary general meeting of the Edmonton Credit Company, Ltd., in the Macdonald hotel on Friday, September 22 at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting follows a report submitted by government investigators after minority shareholders of the company had petitioned to have the affairs of the company investigated, and is said to be the culmination of a series of requests by shareholders for information as to the company's activities and amounts paid out to officials of the company. Suits against the company are pending.

In the notice of the meeting, sent out over the signature of N. Roy Weber as secretary, the purposes for which the meeting has been called are set out as follows:

MARTIN WILL NOT QUIT AS CUBA LEADER

By EDMUND A. CHESTER
Copyright, 1933, by Associated Press

HAVANA, Sept. 16. — Sumner Welles, United States ambassador, held a long secret session today with a committee of the student directorate, staunch supporters of President Grau San Martin.

This was the ambassador's first contact with the new government, and came at a time when Grau San Martin, in another closed meeting, told his strongest opponents he would not accede to their demands he resign the presidency, to which he ascended less than a week ago.

Mr. Welles was said by a student spokesman to have expressed approval of the directorate's pro-government program.

NO U. S. INTERVENTION

The student spokesman quoted the ambassador as saying there would be no American intervention in Cuba, although it is possible marines may be landed if the lives and property of Americans in Cuba are menaced. Students said the government had been informed the besieged officers planned to start firing on the 500 soldiers and students who held them virtual prisoners in their fortress-like hostelry, in which the officers are supplied with many guns.

Meanwhile, powerful forces, including the A.B.C. and O.C.R.R. secret societies, the Nationalist followers of Col. Carlos Mendieta, and supporters of former President Mario G. Menocal, during a protracted session, insisted he make way for a new government of national scope.

Seventeen followers of the rebellious Capt. Fernando Aran, meanwhile, were in Cabana fortress awaiting trials. They were brought here yesterday from Pinar Del Rio province, where they were said to have revolted against the government.

Ello 'Itler, Wotto Gandhi Is Greeting

LONDON, Sept. 16—The Fascist raised arm salute has come into flippant popularity among English youths at the seaboard and holiday camps.

The British youths are not using the salutation as a symbol of political beliefs but merely because it saved energy. They believe that doffing a hat or waving require more energy than the simple raising of the right arm.

In many of the holiday camps the salutation is accompanied by the shouting of "Heil Hitler," those so greeted usually answering "Wotcha Gandhi."

Watch Mine Strike

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 16.—Armed with riot sticks, vigilant state police today kept watch over the south-western Pennsylvania mine strike area while operators and NRA chiefs in Washington pushed the United States soft coal code toward completion.

Coast Of North Carolina And Tampico District Of Mexico Lashed By Storms

Two Lives Lost as Roaring Twister Spreads Destruction Over Wide Area Along the Atlantic Seaboard.

WILMINGTON, N.C., Sept. 16—Roaring up from the tropics a hurricane lashed the northeastern section of North Carolina coast early today, spreading destruction over a wide area and claiming at least two lives.

The battering, smashing wind of full hurricane force destroyed communication facilities and hid the full picture of the storm damage from the outside world, but meagre dispatches coming out by wireless told of widespread property loss.

Elizabeth City, Beaufort and Morehead City, three of the larger communities in the storm area, were completely isolated. The coast guard cutter Pamlico wirelessed that New Bern, city of 12,000, was hard hit and property damage was extensive, but no loss of life there was reported.

At Least Six Dead, Fifty Injured and Two Thousand Homeless in Mexico — Communications Smashed.

Tropical hurricanes struck the Atlantic coast yesterday and today, left at least six dead, 50 injured and 2,000 homeless in the Tampico district of Mexico, and were reported to have swept away one small city on the coast of North Carolina.

Several other towns were inundated and the storm which struck North Carolina raged on toward the Virginia coast.

A fragmentary message sent out from a low-power transmitter at Cape Henry, Virginia, said:

"All Pamlico docks and buildings, completely swept away," the message as picked up here read. "Lights and communications cut off. Landing survey damage and determine casualties if any.

HARVESTING TIED UP BY HEAVY RAINS

One Inch of Rain Falls in City Since Thursday Morning

Rain throughout the northern sections of the province, which has fallen during three days, has seriously held up threshing operations so that many farmers do not expect to be able to resume work for a week or ten days.

Since the beginning of the rain early Thursday, one inch has fallen in the city or, to be exact, .99 precipitation. Thursday's rainfall was .14 inch, Friday's up to midnight .64 inch, and from midnight to 8:00 a.m. Saturday .21 inch.

A remarkable feature of this rain is that a similar rainfall struck the city at almost the same time last year. In September, 1932, rainfall of .82 inch fell on the 17, 18, 19 and 20th.

Rain was reported in all sections of the north, some points calm and strong wind at others.

The general forecast is partly cloudy and cool tonight and Sunday, with scattered showers. The barometer reading Saturday morning was 27.21 increasing.

Highest temperature Friday was 59 degrees, this morning's lowest 44 at 7:00 a.m. At 9:00 a.m. temperature was 46.

IRELAND BEATS SCOTLAND, 2-1

GLASGOW, Sept. 16. — Ireland defeated Scotland 2-1 today in the first International game of the season. The match was played before 22,000 spectators at Celtic Park. Ireland led by two goals at half time.

The game was only seven minutes old when Martin went through and beat Harkness, the same player repeating six minutes later as the result of a mis-kick by Low in attempting to clear. The Irish team thoroughly deserved their two-goal lead at the interval.

Scotland resumed in hurricane fashion and after 16 minutes McPhail scored from close in giving Scott no chance to save. The equalizer never came.

Lieut.-Gov. Walsh To Open Jubilee

MEDICINE HAT, Sept. 16—Lieutenant-governor W. L. Walsh will formally open Medicine Hat's golden jubilee celebration on the morning of Sept. 29, it has been announced by Mayor Bullivant.

'Pon My Sole It's Bennett Shoes Now

KINCAID, Sask., Sept. 16.—A great deal has been said about Bennett buggies, Bennett underwear and Bennett coffee, during the depression, but now Bennett soles and heels have made their appearance. Sterling Anderson, of Kincaid is the proud possessor of a pair of shoes, once discarded, and now giving service with soles and heels manufactured from old tire casings. Sterling says they are guaranteed for 25,000 miles.

ONE ABSOLVED OF REICHSTAG FIRE

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Testimony that it would have been impossible for one of the five men charged with the burning of the German Reichstag building last February to have had any connection with it was presented Friday to the International Legal Commission investigating the blaze.

Previously George Bernhardt, a former German editor, expressed the opinion German communist leaders must have been out of their minds if they planned the fire, as charged by German authorities.

The commission is hearing 15 witnesses in an attempt to determine responsibility for the fire. The suggestion that the Nazis themselves planned the blaze has been placed before the group by Sir Stafford Cripps, Labor member of parliament.

Crowd Menaces Author's Wife As Man Killed

CANNES, France, Sept. 16—Mrs. Michael Arlen, wife of the author, was forced by a menacing crowd of women to flee for safety today after the automobile she was driving with her son, Michael, collided with a motor cycle, killing the rider.

Witnesses said the motor cycle struck the rear of the Arlen automobile and pushed it against the sidewalk, killing the motorcyclist instantly. Neither of the Arlens was injured.

Fire Controlled

CAMAGUEY, Cuba, Sept. 16. — Fire of undetermined origin which did damage estimated at $150,000 in the nearby town of Florida, was brought under control today after raging for hours.

CARMEN STAY ON JOB TODAY AT WINNIPEG

Intervention of Officials Brings Halt to Walkout

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16—One thousand carmen employees of the Winnipeg Electric Company who had threatened to strike at midnight, remained on the job today. Regular street car service was provided throughout the city and Winnipeg car riders, estimated at 105,000, were all smiles, assured of the usual transportation to offices and work rooms.

The strike had been called in protest of a 15 per cent wage cut which became effective yesterday but intervention of civic and provincial authorities brought a halt to the walk-out.

GO BEFORE BOARD

At a four-hour meeting which ended this morning the men agreed to submit their grievances to a board to be established by the provincial government.

A secret ballot, however, will be taken early next week, following out the agreement reached with negotiators yesterday. This is in conformity with the company's protest that the men had not had the opportunity of a secret ballot in calling a strike.

The workers again will be asked if they are willing to accept the wage reduction. In event of rejection, then the provincial conciliation board will be appointed.

ADA MACKENZIE HAS SLIM LEAD

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16. — Miss Mackenzie four up end of 18th.

PINE RIDGE GOLF COURSE, Winnipeg, Sept. 16.—Ada Mackenzie, Toronto, today had a slight edge at the first turn on Margery Kirkham, Montrealer, who is defending her Canadian women's open golf championship in the 36-hole final here today. They halved the ninth in par fours and Miss Mackenzie started the second nine one up.

FRANCE STANDS PAT ON DISARMAMENT CAUTION

GIRL'S LAST ACT HEROIC SACRIFICE

DRUMHELLER, Alt., Sept. 16.—That Wilma Schaffer, 15-year-old Lake McKee school girl, deliberately turned away from her only means of escape rather than risk carrying flames to her three younger half brothers, is indicated by the stories told by 11-year-old George and nine-year-old Ralph, eye witnesses of the tragedy at the George Carra home near Rowley on Thursday evening.

Within a few feet of the kitchen door stood the large water tank but the three youngsters, huddled together on the doorstep leading from the kitchen to the lean-to, blocked the exit. The girl, with clothes blazing, rushed into the living room and is believed to have sought to leave the house by the front door which, she knew, was difficult to open. Apparently she was unable to accomplish this so returned to the kitchen and was overcome as she reached the door. Her charred torso was found by neighbors late Thursday night in the basement. Legs and arms were entirely burnt off.

The Carra family, their home entirely destroyed, together with all their household effects and clothing, were in care of neighbors Friday, and a committee was active soliciting necessities.

Wilma was born near Lacombe and is survived by an elder sister who is at present working in Red Deer, a brother, Irvin, who also was an eye-witness to the tragedy, and six half brothers.

Funeral services will be held over the week-end at Rowley, where interment will be made. The family has resided in the Rowley district for about twelve years.

MANY ATTEND LAST RITES OF JANE HAWKINS

Deceased Woman Was Resident of Drumheller for Past 20 Years

By A. F. KEY

DRUMHELLER, Sept. 16—Funeral services, attended by a large congregation, were held Thursday afternoon at Knox church over the body of Mrs. Jane Anne Hawkins, wife of Robert E. Hawkins, who died late Monday night in Drumheller hospital after a lengthy illness.

The late Mrs. Hawkins was born in Carlisle, Northumberland, England, 58 years ago, coming to Canada with her husband 24 years ago and settling in Drumheller for the past two decades. Besides her husband she is survived by eleven children, Harold of Drumheller, Mrs. Arthur Evans of Vancouver, Mrs. J. Dezeeuw, Drumheller, Mrs. Butterworth, Okotoks, Ernest, Nellie and William of Drumheller, Stanley, at present in training with the R.C.M.P. in Edmonton, Don, Jack and Beatrice also of Drumheller. One brother, Robert Storey, resides at Vancouver, and one sister, Mrs. F. McCannell, lives in Calgary.

SOCCER CLASSIC

Prospect of seven teams entering the local soccer cup-tie classic is suggested following a meeting of the Drumheller F. C. executive, sponsors of the series with a Workmen's Cup committee representative of the competing teams. This year it is believed that Western Gem and Scranton will combine, as will Midland and Mercury mines and Newcastle and A.B.C. Other teams are expected from Wayne, Rosedale, East Coulee, Drumheller Merchants and the Unemployed.

The series will be on a "knock-out" basas with three games for the finals. Closing date for entries has been set for September 21 with the first game being played at the Drumheller Athletic park on the 24th.

Claim Blow By Chief Started Row

SASKATOON, Sept. 16—Further accusations that Chief of Police G. M. Donald struck the blow which started the May 8 skirmish between unemployed and police at the government relief camp here, were made in King's Bench yesterday as the defence in the trial of James McLean, Jack McLean, Ralph Pimlott, Tom O'Hara and Steve Cameron, charged in connection with the riot, was reached. It is expected the case will go to the jury today.

FORGERY CLIQUE OPERATED ON AN AMBITIOUS SCALE

Pennsylvania Police Arrest Seven Men Whose Activities Are Said to Have Mulcted Banks of Quarter Million Dollars.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 16.—Widespread operations of what police termed a forgery clique that mulcted banks of more than $250,000 in recent months were disclosed with the arrest of seven men, including five New Yorkers.

Rounding up the suspects here, police said forged cheques totalling $267,172 had been passed through Pennsylvania banks by the clique in the last four or five months.

SAYS RAIL RATE ON GAS UNFAIR

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—Stressing the fact that shipment of crude oil via Churchill would be quite feasible if a reasonable rail rate could be obtained, Col. G. B. Keenleyside, prominent Regina oil man, yesterday declared western Canada, by the end of the year will again be at the mercy of a gasoline monopoly if the new freight rates on crude oil hold.

The new rate "is ingeniously designed to discriminate against the small independent refinery," Mr. Keenleyside said. "The railways now propose the rate shall apply only to the refineries which reship by rail in the form of finished products, at least 65 per cent of their incoming tonnage. Otherwise, the rate shall be 68½ cents, an increase of nearly 50 per cent.

"The small local refinery, which sells most of its product to neighborhood filling stations, cannot meet this regulation and its ability to compete will be destroyed." Mr. Keenleyside continued.

Even Hoboes Go "NRA," Shun Lizzie

ROSTHERN, Sask., Sept. 16.—According to Hoboe King Lazarowitz, who is visiting here, the knights of the open road have adopted the NRA policy. So much so he declares, that they will not accept rides in Ford cars, due to the fact Henry Ford has not accepted the automobile code.

Show Producer Dies Suddenly

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Martin Herman, one of the outstanding figures in Broadway theatrical production for the last 35 years, was found dead of berat disease in his apartment today. He was 60. Herman had been manager of scores of stars, including John and Lionel Barrymore, Dustin Farnum, Claudette Colbert, Ann Harding, Sylvia Sidney, Florence Reed and Marguerite Churchill.

The Leaning Tower of Pisa was meant to rise straight from the ground but sank on one side when only 35 feet high, so its builders just finished it that way.

LIEUT.-GOV. WILL REVIEW CHEVRONS

His Honor Lieut.-Governor W. L. Walsh will review the annual church parade of the Red Chevron Club outside All Saints Pro-Cathedral, prior to commencement of divine service, on Sunday morning.

Many club members, both local residents and from rural points are expected to attend and make the parade equal in size to that of last year, when His Excellency the Earl of Bessborough inspected the men.

Mobilization will commence at the Canadian Legion Memorial Hall at 10 a.m. and promptly at 10:25 a.m. the parade will move off, proceeding by Macdonald Drive to McDougall avenue; then north to Jasper; west along Jasper and south on 103 street to the cathedral.

Following the service a get-together and reunion will take place at the club's headquarters at Victoria Armories, corner 100 avenue and 106 street, when the annual election of officers will be held.

CONCLAVE NAMES NEW BISHOPS

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16—Archbishop A. L. Fleming is bishop of the new "diocese of the Arctic," and Rt. Rev. Dr. W. A. Geddes, who has been bishop of the Mackenzie River diocese, is the new bishop of the Yukon.

The appointments were made last night at the closing sessions of the provincial synod of the ecclesiastical province of Rupert's Land.

Earlier in the day decision had been made to form a diocese of the Arctic by eliminating the diocese of Mackenzie river and making other diocesan boundary arrangements. The appointments were formally announced by Archbishop I. O. Stringer in bringing the synod proceedings to a close late last night.

Registration In B.C. Is Heavy

VICTORIA, Sept. 16.—Indications yesterday were British Columbia voters would poll the heaviest vote in the province's history when the elections take place Nov. 2.

The voters' list now contains 312,800 names against 245,240 at the time the last provincial election was held in 1928, according to figures released at the legislative buildings. Officials believe 75,000 more people than in 1928 will be entitled to vote by election day.

In the last poll 71.28 per cent of the voters exercised the franchise, a total of 174,934. Predictions were made this election would show a higher percentage. The number of independent candidates in the field and the uncertain state of the political map heightened interest.

Up Christmas Toy Shop

Do you remember the thrill of new toys and candies when you were a child? Can you imagine what Christmas would have been without them? Yet many families face that possibility this year, although the number will be as close to zero as 90 hard working boys in blue can make it.

This band of 90, the men of the city fire department, again are opening up the big toy factory in number two fire hall, to make it easy for everyone to give some unfortunate fellow's kid a happy Christmas.

Chief Albert Dutton and his fire fighters are asking for no handouts, no money, no new goods. All they want is old and broken toys, and they do the rest.

OPERATED EVERY YEAR

Since taking over the leadership of the department, Chief Dutton has operated the toy factory every year, and with carpenter's tools, sandpaper and paint, the firemen have turned more than 1,000 old and broken toys into new playthings for the youngsters who would otherwise find nothing in their stockings on Christmas morning.

The smoke-eaters will accept anything with even the faintest suggestion of being a toy.

They claim a toy so old and worn that it can't be fixed, just doesn't exist, and a glance over the workshop a few days before Christmas supplies the proof of this boast.

ENTERS CONTEST

Not content with "making new ones out of old," the Fire Chief has entered the Buckingham cigarette contest for communities over 10,000 population. The fire department has distributed ballot boxes over the city for smokers to drop in empty Buckingham packages. Each empty pack carries a number of votes, and the city polling the greatest number is awarded a prize of 400 brand new toys.

"It's too bad the contest is tied up the way it is," stated the Chief, "but 400 toys to add to the output of our factory is too good to pass up under any consideration."

So don't throw away your empty Buckingham packs—put them into the boxes and help the fire laddies win 400 new toys for the poor kids' Christmas.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE PLAN HUGE SUCCESS

R. C. Marshall Thanks Those Who Contributed to Work Drive

That while nearly $115,000 worth of work had been pledged during the course of the Edmonton Employment Service Plan, a follow-up of the pledge cards showed that sixty per cent. of those who had pledged certain amounts had exceeded their pledges by from 50 to 100 per cent. by having additional work done which could have been stood over for another year or longer, but which they thought should be done now to help the unemployment situation, was stated by R. C. Marshlal, one of the men responsible for putting the plan over. The announcement was made over the radio on Friday night when he was thanking all those citizens who had assisted in any way in making the campaign a success.

Mr. Marshall stressed the fact that only work which would not otherwise have been done was canvassed.

STIMULATE WORK

"The campaign was deliberately timed to follow on the heels of the usual spring activities, the object being to stimulate and create more work than ordinarily. This was done in more ways than one, namely by the use of many different materials made or handled in Edmonton. By this method, in addition to providing actual work on the improvements made, work was provided for those making or handling the material required, and a general stimulus to business was given," he said.

Mr. Marshall also made a plea that the plan be not dropped. "We feel that it has been a success so far, thanks to the assistance of the thirty different organizations who endorsed it and the hundreds of citizens who pledged themselves to put it over," he said, "but we also feel that the movement should be kept up. The depression has progressed to that stage where we, as a people, must have reached the conclusion that individual efforts should run hand in hand with the efforts of our different governments, federal, provincial and municipal, if we are to expect better times and conditions. Money and labor must accept their own peculiar responsibilities and we respectfully ask those who can possibly spare the money to make an effort before winter sets in to do those improvements to their properties which will be of benefit to themselves and which in turn will benefit their unemployed fellow citizens. This will make everybody feel happier and the money put in circulation will in turn stimulate further activities."

Mr. J. A. Buchanan, who managed the campaign and who gave generously of his time and efforts, will also speak over the radio on Saturday night.

Wm. J. MacKenzie Dies At Consort

Wm. J. MacKenzie of Consort, Alberta, brother of Colin D. MacKenzie, manager of the Edmonton branch of the Motor Car Supply of Canada, died from hemorrhage on Wednesday at his home at Consort. The funeral, under military auspices, will be held to Edmonton cemetery on Saturday, September 16, from Andrews Brothers. Burial will be in the Soldiers' plot.

Mr. MacKenzie went overseas with the 137th battalion, transferring to the 49th. He was an amputation case, having lost a leg at Passchendale. He has been with the Royal Bank for some years at Claresholm, High River and at the time of his death was assistant manager at Consort.

He leaves a wife and two children.

Lioness Shot

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 16—Five horses and a pack of hounds were among the indirect casualties of a hurricane which swept the ranch home of W. A. "Snake" King, Jr., near Brownsville. King said today the animals were killed by a captive lioness liberated by the storm. King then shot the lioness.

Among the exhibits are photographs made with infra red rays, an innovation that hardly has passed experimental stages. They are designed to photograph beneath the skin surface. One photograph shows the clouding of an air cell in the forehead, a frontal sinus indicating the presence of an infection and the cause of a "splitting headache."

FALL SHEEP SHOW ENTRIES HEAVY

Entries now in hand for the Edmonton Fall show and auction sale of purebred sheep and swine on October 18 and 19 indicate that this event will include some choice offerings. The catalogue will be issued as soon as possible after the entries close on October 2nd.

The event will be held in the arena on the Edmonton Exhibition grounds, the sponsors being the Edmonton Exhibition Association and the Alberta Provincial Sheep and Swine Breeders' Associations.

The sheep show includes classes for finished ewe or wether of 1933, and groups 3, 5 and 15 lambs, the weights to be within 70 to 100 lbs. Two classes are included for children.

The sale will include purebred rams and ewes of the popular breeds, also purebred sows and boars. If desired, orders for purchases for those unable to attend the sale may be sent to the Provincial Live Stock Commissioner or the sale secretary at the Arena, Edmonton, from whom catalogues can also be obtained.

Edmonton Chess Club Has Confab

At the annual general meeting of the Edmonton Chess club the election of officers resulted as follows: Presiden, J. W. Barnett (re-elected); vice-president, John D. Hunt (re-elected).

Walter Allen, 10974 122nd street, was elected honorary secretary-treasurer, J. D. McCarthy, the late secretary, having been transferred to Winnipeg.

Arrangements for the annual competition for the city championship are being made and all chess players in the city are asked to join up and make a real fight for the cup.

The club meets on the ground floor rotunda of the Parliament buildings each Wednesday from 7 p.m. and each Saturday afternoon from 2 p.m., from now on until May, 1934. All players, whether beginners or veterans, are welcome.

Countess Holds Son

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. — The Countess de Cavara won back her 10-year-old son Friday because Justice Joseph F. Macquire found that he had not been neglected as charged by the Children's Society. The boy, George de Cavara, had been under supervision of the Society since August 3 when agents forced their way into the de Cavara house after neighbors complained that George virtually was a prisoner in his mother's home.

Chief Smoke Eater Opens Toy Factory

FIRE CHIEF ALBERT DUTTON is away ahead of the gun this year, stealing a march on Father Time, in opening the fire department's toy factory early with the set objective of 5,000 toys for the Christmas stockings of under privileged children. The Chief and his fire-fighting toy makers are all ready to do business, so trot out the discarded dolls, wagons, sandy andies and other play things, and let the department do its celebrated toy rejuvenating act.

NEW ERA OF PROSPERITY IS DAWNING

Business on Upgrade Victor Radio Official Tells Dealers

The business tide has turned and a new era of prosperity is dawning, Roy A. Forbes, of Montreal, general manager of the Victor Talking Machine Company of Canada, told a gathering of 50 Victor dealers of Edmonton and northern Alberta at the annual dinner of the company in the Macdonald hotel Thursday evening.

He added that, with business on the upgrade, Victor has brought out a broad and comprehensive line of merchandise which will more than hold that place in public confidence which Victor machines have held for the past 30 years.

Mr. Forbes was introduced by C. R. Gordon, of Calgary, manager of the distributors of Victor products for Alberta. W. W. Basson, of Edmonton, northern Alberta representative, was in charge of banquet arrangements.

RENEWED SPIRIT

Speaking of business conditions, Mr. Forbes said, "If I read the situation aright, there is a renewed spirit of hope. With the coming season there is coming a new era of prosperitq. We have something new to offer which will be part of the structure of this new era."

The public is becoming more and more radio conscious, Mr. Forbes said. "There is no other way in which people can get the same quality of entertainment as over the radio, when the world's greatest comedians, drama, symphony orchestras and musical stars can be brought right into the home," he stated.

Twelve new Victor moders were demonstrated, showing the tonalite control. Incorporated in the de luxe consoles is a remarkable system of simplifying the operation of the radio controls by means of variable colored lights which permit the eye to aid the ear in obtaining accurate operation of the set at all times.

Mr. Forbes concluded his talk with a demonstration showing the remarkable fidelity of reproduction, even at low volume, of the new combination radio-record sets.

Advocates Two Governments Only For Economy

GALT, Ont., Sept. 16.—Hon. W. D. Euler, Kitchener Liberal member of the House of Commons and former minister of national revenue, told an audience here yesterday he believed a single government for the maritime provinces and another for the prairie provinces would function adequately and would aid in cutting down expenses of government in Canada.

PROTEST IMPENDS AGAINST CUTTING PRESENT FORCES

Daladier-Boncour Scheme For Arms Control, Also No Disarming Until Control Effected, is Approved by Cabinet.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The disarmament policy of Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour, understood to be based on a scheme for international airms control and the limitation of military forces to the present level during a fixed number of years, was approved Friday by the cabinet.

The plan also was said to include a stand against disarming further until the control plan proves effective.

DEMAND WILL FORCE E. KENT BY-ELECTION

Ontario Progressive Invokes Legislative Action For Writ

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—Harry C. Nixon, Ontario Progressive leader, Friday filed a petition at the Ontario Legislative buildings, which he said would probably force the government of the province to call a by-election in the constituency of East Kent where a vacancy exists.

Mr. Nixon's petition invoked a legislative authority which, authorities said, never before had been called upon within their memory.

Supported by Dr. L. J. Simpson, Liberal legislative member for Centre Simcoe, Mr. Nixon presented his petition to Alex C. Lewis, Clerk of the House, who will forward it to Speaker T. Ashmore Kidd. It was believed the petition would force the speaker to issue a writ demanding the by-election.

Coal Concern Asks Separate Trial

QUEBEC, Sept. 16.—A request by the Scotch Anthracite Coal Company for a separate hearing yesterday featured the beginning of the trial of 11 coal companies charged with being parties to a combine and gave promise of a prolonged legal battle. Decision was reserved on the motion. The attorney for the company said it would be more "convenient" if his client was not tried with the other accused.

VAN ALLEN AT YOUNG LIBERALS

Inaugurating what promises to be a very interesting fall program of political education lectures, the Young Liberals' Association has invited as its initial speaker Mr. George H. Van Allen, K.C. He will be heard at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the Young Liberals' Club Rooms in the McLeod Building.

Mr. Van Allen is a brilliant and convincing public speaker and his subject "Liberalism versus Canadian Commonwealth Federation," is one with which he has thoroughly familiarized himself by special study. Timely and topical, this address is awaited with considerable interest.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

CURRENCY FOR WORKS TO KILL BREAD LINES

Hon. Charles Stewart, W. R. Howson at Blue Ridge

BLUE RIDGE, Alta, Sept. 16—Issue of currency for the payment of public works to the extent of stimulating business in Canada is advocated by Hon. Charles Stewart, M.P. for West Edmonton, and former minister of the interior, in order that "eight hundred thousand of our people on the bread line might find a place in society."

Mr. Stewart made this suggestion in an address to a large meeting here. W. R. Howson, Alberta leader, also addressed the meeting.

The Liberal party of Canada wants a national bank operated and controlled by an independent commission in the interests of the Canadian people, Mr. Stewart stated.

Canada's debt was reduced by $270,000,000 during the term of the Liberal administration from 1921 to 1930, Mr. Stewart stated; while the Bennett Conservative administration had increased the debt in three years by over $400,000,000. He maintained the Canadian people were paying $137,000,000 in interest charges on the public debt and that this could not continue as the load was too great for ten million people to carry.

TARIFF POLICY RUINOUS

Mr. Stewart declared the Liberal policy of wider markets was the solution of trade problems. The average duty paid under a Liberal administration was 17 per cent while the average duty under the Bennett Conservative administration was 40 per cent, he said. "The Conservative policy of high tariffs has ruined the market of the Canadian people."

Mr. Howson declared the Alberta U.F.A. administration had neglected the taxpayers of the province and had increased the public debt from $57,000,000 in 1921 to $140,000,000 in 1933. Dealing with the question of money spent on relief, he stated he was in sympathy with those entitled to relief getting it, but thought all the money spent for relief should be spent in such a way as to give return in public works, particularly in the development of natural resources.

PURE ROBBERY EXPOSTULATES GEN. MACHADO

Havana Customs Retained Wife's Strongboxes—Worth $106,000

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—Gerardo Machado, deposed president of Cuba, who is making a temporary home here, broke his customary silence yesterday to protest against the seizure at Havana of his wife's strongboxes. "It is pure robbery," he declared when he learned a large sum in bonds and jewelry had been sealed up by the Cuban authorities.

"The contents of the vault are my wife's private fortune," he said, "and the jewelry belongs to her, my daughter and a friend of my wife."

Reports from Havana the vault's contents were worth $1,000,000 were "discounted." Machado said the proper figure was about $106,000.

Noted Worker Of Reformers Speaks Here

REV. H. R. GRANT, D.D., secretary of the Nova Scotia Social Service Council who is to speak at Central United church on Tuesday next in connection with the Edmonton district conference of the Albert Prohibition Association.

MORAL REFORM WORKERS PLAN PARLEY HERE

Dr. H. R. Grant Principal Speaker at Gathering Next Tuesday

The Conference of Temperance and Moral Reform workers of Northern Alberta to be held in Central United church, 106 avenue and 99 street next Tuesday, September 19, promises interesting new developments in the program of the association in Edmonton. The program carries a series of interesting subjects and addresses which will be given by several Edmonton ministers. The feature of the afternoon session will be the throwing open of the meeting to general discussion following the address and presentation of a resolution on the subjects mentioned. The conference sessions are open to the public although voting will be confined to regular members and delegates.

The ladies of Central United church have consented to prepare a supper at 6:15 and any wishing to have plates reserved should phone 22952. Greetings will be brought to the meeting by both local ministers and W.C.T.U. workers as well as visiting delegates.

DR. GRANT TO SPEAK

The principal speaker at the evening meeting will be the guest of the conference, Dr. H. R. Grant, secretary of the Social Service Council and Temperance Alliance of Nova Scotia. This will be Dr. Grant's first visit to Edmonton and he and Mrs. Grant are here visiting relatives in this city.

During the coming week Dr. Grant will address meetings at Leduc, Monday, Sept. 18; Lamont, Wednesday, Sept. 20; Vermilion, Tuesday, Sept. 21. On Sunday, Sept. 24, Dr. Grant will address the United congregations of the Ponoka United church and Baptist church in the United church, Ponoka, in the morning, will take the afternoon services. Rev. A. E. Hayes, church at Fairview and Sunday evening will address the united congregations of Baptists and United church at Lacombe. Rev. Layton of Lacombe, is an old friend of Dr. Grants and was the first to ask for a visit from Dr. Grant when it became known that he had promised to give the people of Alberta a month of his time.

From Lacombe Dr. Grant goes to Clive for Monday evening, September 25, and on Tuesday there will be a similar conference to the Edmonton one in the Presbyterian church at Red Deer.

Other conferences and meetings are being arranged for Calgary and Lethbridge districts.

British Captain Praises Umpires

LONDON, Sept. 16.—G. C. Grant, captain of the British West Indies cricket team which recently concluded its English tour, paid a tribute to the sportsmanship and honesty of English umpires at a farewell dinner tendered the visiting cricketeers, by the West Indian club Friday night.

He attributed the success of the West Indian team partly to the confidence the members had in the umpires who were undoubtedly a credit to the game.

Saskatoon School Teams Have Rugby

SASKATOON, Sept. 16—Modifying its earlier decision not to allow students at collegiates to play rugby this year, the High School board here has agreed to permit students to play, but not under colors or name of any city high school.

Modification of the board's stand was effected by a delegation of citizens and collegiate students who waited on the members Thursday.

Leading English Jockey Is Hurt

DONCASTER, Eng., Sept. 16—Jockey Gordon Richards, who rode five races Friday at Doncaster, was slightly injured and his pilot, Geo. Pennington, was killed as the airplane in which they were flying to London crashed soon after taking off. Richards is one of England's leading jockeys.

SHASTA OPENS BIG CABARET THIS EVENING

Willie Wooll's Orchestra to Feature in Beautiful Peacock Room

Featured by the presentation of Willie Wooll and his Canadian Ambassadors band selected from the best musicians in Western Canada, the Shasta Peacock Room will open its fall and winter cabaret season on Saturday evening.

Jack Penner and Leo Martin, comanagers, announce several innovations for the approval of their patrons. The major change in the well-appointed Peacock Room is the moving of the orchestra stand from the south end of the dance floor to the north end. It is held that this has advantages for both musicians and dancers.

IMPROVEMENTS

The lighting system has also been improved and a battery of colored spotlights is being used on the dance floor and the orchestra stand.

Improvements have been made to the ventilation system, providing a cool circulation of air at all times.

The Canadian Ambassadors band is a ten-piece orchestra with an entertainer. Special entertainers will also appear during the cabarets. The musicians playing under the baton of Mr. Wooll are Mark Mortimer, Edmonton, Jack Heath, Regina; Harry Oswell, Saskatoon; Johnny Murdie, Saskatoon; Frank Harvey, Edmonton; Bob Lyon, Edmonton; Don Baker, Saskatoon; Daryl Harper, Edmonton, and Stanley Chandler, Edmonton.

Several of them have played with leading orchestras in Eastern Canada and the United States, and Mr. Wooll is confident that they will speedily be favorites in Edmonton.

THREE NIGHTS

The Ambassadors will appear on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. They will play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. on the first two nights and from nine o'clock till midnight on Saturdays.

Radio broadcasts will be featured during the week, and the Shasta plans also to continue its regular Sunday evening dinner music from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The Sunday program is presented by Al. Preston and his seven-piece band, with two special vocalists.

OTTAWA FIGHTER IS DISQUALIFIED

OTTAWA, Sept. 16 — Ronnie Headley, Ottawa welterweight, was disqualified for holding in the eighth round of a ten-round fight here Friday night, the verdict going to Dave Amos of Terre Haute, Ind.

Headley had been warned in the sixth and seventh rounds, by referee Honore Chevrier, against his tactics of holding and fighting in the clinches. When he persisted in the eighth, apparently over-zealous in his efforts to secure a knockout, he was sent to his corner and the fight awarded to Amos.

cut, water front property destroyed and six feet of water in the business streets were related by the coast guard despatches. Red Cross aid was asked.

"Indescribable confusion," was the description of conditions there by E. H. Dixon, manager of the Carolina telephone and telegraph company's New Bern office who made his way from the storm torn city of Kingston.

"New Bern is a tangle of trees and wires," Dixon continued. "The tide spread over the business district. Trees were blown down on about every street and telephone wires were tangled up everywhere."

Dixon said there was no loss of life so far as he knew. He said the storm reached its height at about 2 a.m.

RED CROSS RESPONDS

The storm passed Wilmington at sea and little effect was felt here.

Washington reported the highest tides in many years and the Pamlico river rose over wharves and docks there, forcing removal of goods from some warehouses on the water front.

Exetnsive damage was feared in the Hyde county and Belhaven sections.

An amateur wireless operator at Charlotte reported receipt of a message from an amateur at Elizabeth City saying part of the city was under water.

The massage was sent by the steamer New Brunswick and said a coast guard ship had the distressed ship in tow. No casualties were reported.

First reports picked up by radio marine gave the name of the ships as the British steamer New Mexico, but later advices corrected the error.

Fourteen foot land light is at the entrance to Delaware Bay. The Beckwith was described as a small vessel.

A message picked up by Radio Corporation of America at 11 a.m. from the coast guard cutter Galetea said:

Vivid Picture Of Confusion

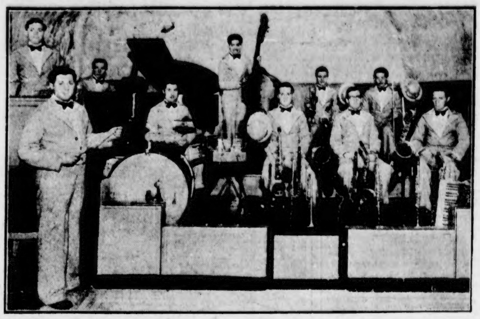
KINGSTON, N.C., Sept. 16.—E. H. Dixon, manager of the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company's New Bern branch, said on his arrival here today that flood waters which inundated much of the city's business section last night, began receding at 6 a.m.

"Indescribable confusion" was his picture of conditions in New Bern, which has been cut off from communications with the outside world since early last night. No loss of life had been reported, Dixon said.

"The tide spread over the business district," Dixon continued. "Trees were blown down on about every street and telephone wires were tangled up everywhere. Water was waist deep on East Front street, one of the town's principal streets, the New Bern man said.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—The Radio Marine Corporation today picked up a wireless message that the steamer Beckwith, of Reedville, Va., blew out a boiler off Fourteen Foot Land Light and was leaking badly.

New Shasta Feature



Shown above are Willie Wooll and his Canadian Ambassadors who will appear three nights each week, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at the Shasta Peacock Room. Special entertainers will also assist in the orchestra's presentations which will be broadcast by radio during the week.

ranged from the contract rate of more than $5 in rocky, mountain region to a still undetermined rate for Alabama. That state's mines received the lowest rate—$3 a day—in a previous administration-drafted code.

The code provided that miners should be paid by the ton except in cases where other methods are the standard. The miners would be permitted to choose representatives to check the operators' weight or measure.

Miners would not be compelled to live in company houses or deal at company stores. No person under 17 years of age could be employed in the mine or in "hazardous occupations outside any mine." Persons less than 16 years of age could not be employed in or about a mine.

750,000 JOBS IN AUGUST

Giving new stimulus to the recovery campaign, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins announced yesterday estimates that 750,000 workers returned to jobs in August and that payrolls in 89 of the major manufacturing industries increased $12,000,000.

President Roosevelt was prepared last night to strike at other labor disputes by promulgating a compromise agrement designed to close the gap between industry and labor.

The compromise agreement, delicately negotiated between the labor and industrial advisory boards of the administration, lay on Mr. Roosevelt's desk and its issuance to calm some of the labor disturbances over the country was not expected to be delayed long.

Disturbed at the rising number of strikes, many of them due to confusion over the intent of the Recovery Act's guarantee of collective bargaining for labor without coercion from employers, Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, asked the two boards to work out a statement on the subject satisfactory to both sides. If they had failed, he intended to draft one himself.

After two long meetings this accord was reached. Johnson took it to the White House last night for Mr. Roosevelt to announce.

All Quiet In Coal Areas

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 16—Under the watchful eyes of State police, quiet prevailed Friday in the south-western Pennsylvania soft coal fields where more than 30,000 men are on strike.

Efforts of coal codifiers in Washington to reach an accord by President Roosevelt's midnight deadline were viewed with intense interest.

The men quit in protest against delay in signing the code. Their leaders have said they will return to work if a code including recognition of the United Mine Workers of America is adopted.

Sixty state troopers were ordered to the area by Governor Gifford Pinchot after disorders Thursday in which 17 men were wounded by gunfire and more than a score of others beaten.

Shooting Season Opens

Nimble Nimrods Chased By Big Bull

With Roar---No Bulloney

The shooting season opened with a roar as far as Lincoln Philips, 10743 69 avenue and his pal, Charlie Frost, 10743 68 avenue, were concerned—and that's no bull.

"I was out shooting Friday in a school section about 16 miles from town," Philips tells it. "I was standing in some willow brush at the side of a slough shooting, when I heard a moo-ah behind me. I turned around and here was a big red bull about 20 feet away bellowing and pawing up the ground.

"Well, my knees started to rattle and then I headed for a tree with that big four-ton brute after me and we started playing tag—me dodging around one side of the tree and the bull going around the other."

This little game might have gone on forever, according to Philips, but the bull's attention was distracted.

"He saw Charlie and started after him. Charlie ran a half a mile with high boots on and that big mountain of meat trotting after him and hollering his head off."

The hunters do not know how it was that the bull did not catch Frost in that half mile run. "It seemed as though he did not want to do us any damage but he kept worrying hell out of us," said Philips.

For Sake Of Science

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 16.—William Albert St. John Harmsworth, Isle of Wight, who died at Les Bouillens, France, in May, left an estate valued at $415,000, and in his will directed that his body should be offered to the Royal College of Surgeons, England: "In the fervent hope that the examination of it may lead to knowledge which may save others a crippled life such as mine." He was the youngest brother of the late Lord Northcliffe and Lord Rothermere.

Hardships Are Trifles To Musher

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—C. C. "Slim" Williams of Copper Centre, Alaska, had an "uneventful" trip, he said as he arrived by dog sled for the world's fair.

He lived on a straight meat diet for 14 days.

NAZI-AUSTRO BANDS BLARE LOUD OOMPAHS

Unique Musical Contest is Staged on Border Mountain Peak

MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 16—An oompah, German Nazis believe, is only a musical note, but many oompahs blared by an Austrian band on the German frontier are a challenge to all good Nazi trumpeters to come to the aid of the party.

Hearing that an Austrian band was to play for tourists on the Austrian side of the Zugspitze, highest peak in the Bavarian Alps, German Naxis persuaded the management of the Bavarian Zugspitze railway to take the storm troop brass band to the top free of charge.

Arriving at the summit ahead of the Austrian band the Nazis received their competitors with a crescendo of Nazi marches and the display of Nazi emblems from the verandah of the German hotel, situated just inside the frontier and somewhat above the nearby Austrian hostelry.

For the rest of the afternoon and until nightfall Nazi and Austrian compositions were blared forth.

was garbled in transmission.

Two persons were drowned off the American coast and a third was missing in a boat.

Apprehension gripped Norfolk, Va., where the full fury of the storm was expected to strike later in the day.

A coast guard cutter reported by wireless that the highest tide on record had inundated New Bern, N.C., and flooded other waterfront cities.

Wires were down and one city, Morehead City, N.C., was cut off from the rest of the world, its roads blocked with debris and its communications stopped.

MOUNTAINOUS SEAS

Ships hugged the coast line. The seas were described as mountainous. The wind blew 80 to 100 miles an hour. Torrential rains beat down.

A first report sent from the office of Pan-American Airways at Tampico, Mexico, said that 32 were believed dead in that district. Later, corrected advices reduced this number to six.

Cold rain that swept New York and the New Jersey coast for two days and nights slackened early today leaving many streets and cellars flooded.

Heavy seas and high tide continued to menace New Jersey shore resorts and historic Barnegat lightship was in danger. The surf dashed over projecting jetties to within five feet of its base.

Coast guardsmen stood by on the beach at Deal, N.J., ready to shoot a line, if necessary, to six men on two barges anchored a quarter mile out. The barges were cut off from tow because of the heavy sea.

Relief Workers Begin Big Task

TAMPICO, Mexico, Sept. 16.—Relief workers today began the huge task of caring for 50 injured persons and 2,000 made homeless by a hurricane which swept this district yesterday. At least six were killed.

Continued rains raised rivers to flood stage and the resulting damage, together with that caused by strong winds, was considered large.

Relief headquarters were set up in the city hall.

The Tampico hospital, a refinery, an asylum and houses at a nearby resort were wrecked.

Six small boats were sunk in coastal rivers, but it was not ascertained whether there was any loss of life. Passengers on one sinking launch were saved.

The city was left practically without light and power.

INTREPID PAIR ALL READY WHEN SHIP ASSEMBLED

Jim Finds Packed Sands of Wasaga Beach Ideal for Take-off—'Plane is Expected to be Ready in Three Days.

WASAGA BEACH, Collingwood, Ont., Sept. 16—The flying Mollisons, Jim and Amy, England's famous aviation aces, arrived here late Friday and Captain Jim, after racing his automobile in a test run over the hard packed surface of Wasaga beach, announced that weather permitting they would take off as soon as their plane was assembled for an attempted non-stop record flight.

"The chances are with us. Weather permitting we will take off from here as soon as our plane is ready. The beach, we believe, meets our needs; it's marvellous," enthused the male member of the intrepid flying pair as he stood on the beach after making his trial run. The plane is expected to be in flying shape in three days.

Trousseau Was Created In Jail Cell

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 16.—With a trousseau she made in jail, Vivian Alexander, 22, will be freed today, after serving a 28-day sentence on disturbance charge, to become the bride of Ed. Franklin, rancher, of near Buffalo, Wo.

They were arranging to be married here when her arrest for boisterous conduct at a party given by friends temporarily halted the wedding march.

"It's pretty hard for a girl to prepare a trousseau in a cell, but there was nothing else to do and I didn't see any use waiting until I got out," said Miss Alexander.

Hans Larsen, Known As Oldest Elk In Canada, Is Dead

Many attended the funeral service of Hans Larsen, Ponoka, known as the oldest Elk in Canada, whose death occurred Wednesday, in the United church, Friday.

W. H. Heller, of Edmonton, past grand chaplain, took the Elks' service at the graveside.

All stores in Ponoka were closed during the funeral, out of respect to the deceased, who was an esteemed resident of the town.

Golf Tournament Has Large Entry

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—Heading a larger draw for the qualifying round of the Canadian women's close golf championship at St. Charles Country Club here next week than was listed for the Canadian open at Pine Ridge Golf Club last Monday, are the same stars who struggled against par in the tournament which ends in the final between Ada Mackenzie and Margery Kirkham at Pine Ridge today.

New York Player Leads In Tourney

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Thirty-six contract bridge players Friday inaugurated the third annual tournament to decide the United States individual contract bridge championship, and at the end of the first session of seven boards, Samuel Frey, Jr., of New York, was leading with 133 points. William E. McKenney of Cleveland was second with 132½ points.

BESSBOROUGH INSTRUCTIONS QUESTIONED

Relations Delegates Find Ottawa Actions Were Undignified

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—Instructions given the Earl of Bessborough when he became Governor-General of Canada were unnecessary and couched in the antiquated form drawn up in 1905 for use prior to the time when the British Dominions became equal partners with the United Kingdom in the British Commonwealth of Nations, it was stated at Friday's session of the British Commonwealth Relations Conference now meeting in Hart House.

Prior to the declaration of equality of status the Governor-General was an officer of the Imperial government and as such received a set of instructions from that government on assuming office. Under the new dispensation the Governor-General is no longer an officer of the British government but is a personal representative of His Majesty, appointed by the King on the advice of the Dominion government.

Lord Bessborough was the first governor-general of Canada to assume office under the new order and consequently was appointed on the advice of Premier R. B. Bennett and his cabinet. The Canadian government, however, one of the delegates said, apparently considered the governor-general still needed instructions and proceeded to supply him with the same set of directions given all governor-generals by the British government since 1905 with a few changes in wording to make them conform to new conditions.

General agreement was expressed that this was not only unnecessary but out of keeping with the new dignity attaching to the governor-general's office.

DUNLAP SMASHES COURSE RECORD

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—Smashing the course record with a 68, three under par, George T. Dunlap, 24-year-old New Yorker, piled up an overwhelming margin of seven up over Max R. Marston, Philadelphia, veteran ex-titleholder, today in the first 18 holes of their 36-hole match for the United States amateur golf championship.

Dunlap shot one of the greatest rounds in the history of the championship. Gray-haired veterans of golf could not recall anything like it since Bob Jones beat Chick Evans in the final round at Minikahda, in 1927, when the Georgian carded 31 out and 36 for a 67.

Dunlap was never once off the fairway. He never missed a green with his approach, though he was once or twice on the edge. He made only one real mistake in the entire round. That was when he three-putted and lost the seventh hole.

Marston captured only two holes, the seventh and eighth, and halved only seven others.

Fire Damages Home When Beaverlodge Man Goes Hunting

BEAVERLODGE, Sept. 16.—The contents and the inside of J. F. Smith's home were badly damaged by fire believed to have been caused by an overheated stove early Saturday.

Reg. Little, Midland and Pacific grain buyer, noticing smoke issuing from the house at 6:30 a.m., sent in an alarm and the fire brigade immediately responded, extinguishing the blaze with the chemical engine.

No one was in the house. Mrs. Smith and the children were visiting at Rapiti, and Mr. Smith had gone hunting earlier in the morning. A small amount of insurance was carried.

C.P.R. Plans Many More Excursions

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—Numerous winter excursions, details of which are to be announced later, are planned by the Canadian railways this year.

The excursion fares will be effective both to eastern Canada and the Pacific coast, as well as to certain points in the United States, and will bear no restrictions as to sleeping car accommodation. The time limit on the winter tickets is also to be quite lengthy, particularly for those purchased in conjunction with steamship tickets by persons going overseas.

WHY THE SHACKS?

Edmonton has no recognized "jungle", fortunately, but a considerable number of men are living, and have been for some time, in dugouts and shacks along the river bank, under conditions which the health board suspects to threaten the health of the community. What to do about it is the question.

That would seem to be a matter the city should take up with the governments. How comes it that with relief camps in operation, these men have to live, or prefer to live, in these unsanitary conditions, and eke out an existence no one knows how? Since the health of the city is said to be threatened, that is good enough ground on which to take action. But the broader question is why human beings should be constrained to adopt such a mode of life in this land of plenty.

Whether the fault lies with the men or the camps, there must be fault somewhere, and it should be located and corrected. The existence of anything resembling a "jungle" is neither necessary, creditable, safe nor humane, and no city should tolerate any such monstrocity.

IN THE MEANTIME?

Premier Bennett says Canada's prosperity depends upon foreign trade. If he had said that four years ago the assent would have been almost unanimous. But the times have changed. Our foreign trade has mostly gone, and the prosperity with it. We haven't enough trade left to support any measure of prosperity adequate to the need.

If we have to get back the trade before we can get back good times, the prospect for the next three years looks too much like the record of the last three to invite anything but despair. And as the Premier was willing that our foreign trade should vanish, in fact helped it to disappear, he should be able to think up something in the way of a domestic make-shift to tide us over the painful interval until we can get it back.

Canada cannot, as he says, be completely self-contained, and does not need to be. But if the country is to survive we shall have to do what we can in that direction until Mr. Bennett has time to undo the mischief and get us again into trading relations with the peoples whose commerce we spurned in the days of delusion.

DEMOCRACY UNDER DISCOUNT

Politics, it is said, "makes strange bedfellows." Politics, in a better sense of the term, sometimes makes party leaders do "strange" things.

The last former Democratic President of the United States established a wartime dictatorship, as complete as that of any other country engaged in the world struggle. President Roosevelt has established a peace-time dictatorship, as complete for the purpose in view as that which Mr. Wilson created sixteen years ago. Democracy is under discount in the United States just now.

It is surely a paradox that it should fall to the lot of these two chiefs of the Democratic party to thus suspend democratic government in everything but name in the United States, and to subject the traditionally "free and independent" citizens of that country to a measure of official direction and control such as is normally found only in countries ruled by arbitrary authority.

The moral is widely drawn that popular government is only conditionally practicable; that it works tolerably when conditions are normal, but that when there is a war to be fought or an economic crisis to be faced, a dictatorship is the only instrument that can give effective guidance to the national efforts.

The claim is rather pointless, since—whether for good or ill—there is no likelihood whatever that the United States or any other western country will permanently surrender the popular right to rule into the hands of autocrats. If the N.R.A. is a success, Mr. Roosevelt will have to relax the present arbitrary methods very promptly.

What is apparent is that a people, however pledged to self-rule, will rally with enthusiasm about any man who gives them vigorous and intelligent leadership in a time of national emergency, submitting to interference and dictation in their business affairs and even to the suspension of cherished civil rights. Had Canada's Premier boldly declared war against the depression, and launched a constructive campaign of resistance to it, the people of Canada would have given him as loyal support as their neighbors are giving to their forceful President.

GET SOME WORK STARTED

The city council on Monday endorsed a proposal that cash payments be made for labor on relief work projects, provided the two governments can be got to agree. That would be a fairer and more dignified method of procedure than handing out grocery orders or meal tickets as payment, and would appear to amount to the same thing from the standpoint of the taxpayer. But if it has taken all this time to arrive at the point of uncertainty as to whether the governments will consent to such an arrangement, the prospect of getting any relief work projects started on a cash-payment basis is not very bright.

Meantime, what is the difficulty or the objection to allowing the relief men to work out the assistance they are now getting, instead of charging this up as loans against their property or their future earnings? At last reports the city was paying out about $30,000 a month, and each of the governments an equal sum, as "direct relief" to married men in Edmonton. There are certainly numerous opportunities to profitably employ considerable numbers of the men in street and other improvement work, and there can hardly be any doubt that they would rather thus pay as they go than accept advances in kind or cash which will stand as debts against them.

It is quite in order to canvass the possibility of putting relief work payment on a better basis than that of store-orders, but the important thing to both the relief men and the city is to get some relief work under way without more delay.

CHERRY-RIPE

Cherry-ripe, ripe, ripe, I cry,
Full and fair ones; come and buy.
If so you ask me where
They do grow, I answer: There
Where my Julia's lips do smile;
There's the land, or cherry-isle,
Whose plantations fully show

THE STATUE OF THE SAGUENAY

On this date, in 1881, passengers up the Sagenay River saw the great statue of the Virgin which had been dedicated by a prelate of the Church the day before. The story of that statue is so romantic as to be without a parallel. About 60 years ago there was a commercial traveller from Quebec city whose duties took him into the then quite primitive Chicoutimi country. One day in the fall he got caught in a storm and was returned to his home a very sick man, so sick, indeed, that, after months in bed, his doctors told him that he was incurable and would not live to see another birthday.

But Charles Napoleon Robitaille—that was his name—made up his mind that he was not going to die. Like other people, in later years, he had children to look after, and he determined that with God's aid he would live until he saw them established. He prayed in the privacy of his room; he pleaded for recovery; he made a solemn vow that if he were allowed to live just 10 years more he would erect a statue of the Virgin on Cape Trinity. Almost at once he began to recover; within a month he was out of bed; in less than three months he was back on the road, calling on customers who welcomed him as if from the dead.

Ten years passed; Charles Napoleon still lived; two of the doctors who had pronounced his death sentence had themselves passed on, and the anniversary came for the fulfilment of the vow. There was in lower town Quebec, a skilled worker in wood, Louis Jobin, who had made many statues for St. Anne de Beaupre. To him Robitaille gave his commission for the carving of a statue of the Virgin 25 feet high, and in due time it was completed. It was then covered with lead and taken down to the Saguenay.

There on Sept. 15, 1881—it was placed in position and blessed by Monsignor Racine, the first Bishop of Chicoutimi. And there it has remained ever since, in summer sun and mid-winter snows, swept by the mighty winds which torment the Saguenay—twice repaired, but, in effect, the same statue which paid the debt of Charles Napoleon Robitaille, who not only saw the statue erected but lived for eight years longer, only giving up his trips to the Saguenay when old age ended his travels.

LIVING PENSIONS NOT GUARANTEED

Editor Bulletin: Allow me through your valuable paper, to correct somewhat your editorial of Sept. 13th under the heading of "Civil Servants and Others."

Possibly I should first of all remind you that the government does not altogether pay pensions to its employees, the pension fund being created by a stoppage of five per cent. each month from the employees' wages upon which the government allows 4 per cent. interest. These payments by the employee are made until thirty-five years of service have been completed, then at the ripe old age of sixty-five the employee is allowed to retire. There is no definite ruling that a pension will be a living one, it being based on the following rule: One-fiftieth of an employee's salary twelve months previous to his retirement, multiplied by his years of service.

It must also be stated that a large number of civil servants do not come under the aforementioned Superannuation act, but remain under the Retirement act, which allows an employee to retire at any age with the amount to his credit in this fund, plus five per cent. interest allowed by the government.

It is to be admitted that the government has made contributions to the fund but this will be found small in comparison to the employees, and a good deal might be applied to interest.

It would seem probable that if taxpayers of this country placed 5 per cent. of their income monthly with the government over a period of 35 years that they also might retire at sixty-five years of age instead of seventy. It might also be stated that the average life of mankind is not very much in excess of sixty-five years on this continent therefore it would appear that the government would be the winner.

The public should not imagine that they are entirely responsible for worn out civil servants, which they are not.

CAN NOTHING BE DONE?

Is the problem of the drifter insoluble? Is statesmanship absolutely bankrupt? Or is it nothing that hundreds of young men go about the country, riding the rods, living like dogs, without work and without hope?

Does it matter that at least two cases have recently come to press notice of poor fellows starving, taken out of box cars, ill, after having not eaten for days?

Do our authorities care that except for private charity hundreds of others would probably be in the same plight?

Is it a testimony to the efficiency of governments that in this day and generation men are reduced to such straits?

Did we not hear in 1930 that unemployment would disappear? Has it disappeared?

Will constant "passing the buck" from Dominion to provincial authorities, from city to town, from town authorities to private individuals—will this ever solve the problem?

Is it impossible, if some of these men are "bums" and "wastrels" (as some authorities try to say), to devise some way of separating the sheep from the goats and assisting those who need and deserve it?

In short, do we care? Can nothing be done? —Regina Leader-Post.

The Passing Show

By J. S. Cowper

An English friend, trying to break my heart, sends me a pamphlet telling of the plight of five men out West, for whose relief appeals are being made in England. Two get only £700 a year and free houses; the highest paid gets only £850 a year. An effort is being made to increase their incomes to £900 a year apiece, so that they shall not know want.

The pamphlet carries in heavy black face type the legend, "The Fatal Poverty of Bishops." After telling of their salaries and free houses, it says:

> Can you imagine a more appalling state of things?
> No one seeks riches for these brave Fathers in God, but surely they ought to receive enough in pounds, shillings and pence to enable them to carry on their really gigantic missionary labors without having to bear the burden of pecuniary anxiety as well.

It asks "for sufficient help to remove once for all the crying scandal implied in 'the fatal poverty of bishops'."

Readers of "The Passing Show" who wish to contribute to a fund to earn sufficient interest to ensure the removal of this crying scandal for all time to come, should address their contributions to "Bishopric's Fund," Treasurers of the British Columbia and Yukon Church Aid Society, The Church House, Westminster, London, S.W.1.

A new religionist who will not require appeals to be made for her is Miss Texas Guinan, famous night club hostess, whose "Hello, Sucker," and "Give the little girl a hand" have passed into current Americana. "Tex" has had rather a tough time since the depression hit the big butter and egg men who used to throw their money round her joint. She took a number of her girls to France to show the Parisians how a night club should be run but the French authorities refused her admission as an undesirable. An attempt to run a night club in Montreal was cut short by the return of alcohol in United States. So "Tex" went to Hollywood, and as announced by herself in the press to ensure a great cloud of witnesses, hit the sawdust trail in the Angelus Temple and will at once get to work as an evangelist.

Aimee was not present at the conversion. Aimee is away on a preaching tour, whose object she announces to be "to plant the cross of Jesus alongside the Blue Eagle of the NRA."

"Tex" is likely to be a powerful rival of Aimee's in the evangelistic field. She'll show the poverty-stricken bishops how to knock the customers over and get the mazuma.

Another religionist reached the headlines last week. His name is "Chao Kung." He is the abbot of a Buddhist Temple. His skull cap conceals the scars of nine burns on his skull, made by joss sticks. His whole getup conceals the identity of Ignatius Tulbitsch Lincoln, former British M.P., and arch spy in the German war service.

What a life has been his!

Having qualified as a Buddhist priest, Lincoln, or Chao Kung as he now calls himself, is in charge of a temple house at Shanghai known as "Buddhist House." He is there to initiate Europeans who wish to enter the Chinese Buddhist faith. Six men and four women from the South of France, the youngest a 21-year-old student of agriculture, the eldest, Madame Escifferier, the widow of a French professor, reached "Buddhist House" a couple of weeks ago for tuition. One of the first things they will have to do will be to divest themselves of all their worldly possessions.

Sakya-muni, the first Buddha, taught renunciation. A prince of the royal blood, he waited till the temple bells pealed out the glad news that his heir was born before he took a begging bowl and set out on a life of poverty, renunciation and contemplation.

Widowhood probably affects French women in different ways. Madame Escifferier has turned to poverty and renunciation. Madame Vischer d'Assonleville has decided for a life on the rolling wave and a home on the heaving deep. Two months ago she booked a passage for her first sea voyage. She liked it so well that she took another and another. Now she has gone back to Paris to get her potted geraniums and favorite Persian cat, and will spend the rest of her life—unless her plans miscarry—commuting across the Atlantic.

Shipboard life on a modern liner has all the advantages of modern hotel life and a few of its own thrown in. It's probably a good deal cheaper than first-class hotel life ashore. One of the C.P.R. Empresses has for the last two years carried a constant passenger. An Englishman with moderate means, he finds the officers so agreeable and the life so interesting, he has travelled backwards and forwards for two years on the same ship.

Madame d'Assonleville's greatest peril is not mal de mer. It is matrimony. Travelling on shipboard, in hourly companionship with persons with time to be charming for the week or two weeks or month of the trip, is fatal to the lonely life. The "round the world" trips of the big ocean liners see many romances. But none of the great white Empresses can tell such a tale as the battered old hulk Melanope that coals them at Vancouver. In the days of her pride as a great white-winged seabird, the crew of the Melanope, overtaken by a fit of South Sea madness, mutinied. They put their captain and officers into a boat with food, water, a chart and compass, to find their way to an island while the crew sailed away with the ship. They had lots of food on board. At a coral island each man equipped himself with a native wife. Then they set out on the maddest, care-freest trip of their lives. When a British cruiser overhauled them a year later, the Melanope had more souls on board than she started with.

Civilization can be credited with bringing joy to the pilchard fishermen of the west coast of Vancouver Island, whose plight when the pilchard shoals failed to visit the coast this summer, was recently narrated in this column.

It was an amphibian plane, high in the skies and 100 miles out at sea that sighted the pilchard shoals after most of the plants had closed their doors and 420 fishermen and their families had gone on provincial relief. Bringing the good news to port and piloting the fishermen out to where the pilchards were running, the pilot of the plane proved the saviour of the pilchard season.

About 3000 tons of pilchads have been brought in thus far and there is time for another 3000 tons to be brought in before the pilchards leave their feeding grounds. Both in protecting the fisheries against alien fish pirates and in locating the shoals, the airplane is proving far more effective than the fastest of sea ships.

Score that for civilization.

LET YOUR UNCONSCIOUS MIND HELP AND NOT HINDER

If someone' asks you whose slave you are, you would probably reply that you are not the slave of any man; however, literally thousands of people are enslaved just as much as though they wore chains of iron. Almost everyone is enslaved in some degree by that type of handicap which we impose upon ourselves through the careless cultivation of wrong mental habits which chain the freedom of mind just as much as a ball and chain would interfere with the freedom of the body. All around us we see people who are slaves to fear, worry, jealousy or self-pity. Some of them are so hampered by a feeling of inferiority or by a lack of self-confidence that almost every action is stopped short before it is accomplished.

Dr. F. McCoy

I had a friend who had in many ways a brilliant mind and a wonderful personality. Time and again he developed and promoted enterprises which would have made him extremely wealthy, but, because of some curious mental quirk, when the deal was almost finished and the agreements were drawn up, he would find some reason or excuse why he could not go through with the deal. Sometime he would not turn up for the appointment; at other times he would be sick or he would want to change the terms of the agreement. In talking about his enterprises, he would point out how bad fortune dogged his footsteps, and he stated it with almost an air of satisfaction. That may seem perhaps like an extreme case, but I am sure that similar conditions are much more prevalent than is generally realized.

At first such undesirable mental states hold one in bondage for only a short time, but, if through carelessness they are allowed to control the mind, they become firmly entrenched habits. Whether we realize it or not, our mental habits are largely of our own choosing and they may be either good or bad. We alone are responsible for the slavery of bad habits and we can make a definite choice and even convert bad habits into good ones.

The fact that some of our emotions and mental states do good in the body has been known for a long time. This thought is brought out in the quotation from the Bibie where it states that, "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine." Some of the good mental states are the following: cheerfulness, tolerance, kindness, patience, friendliness, honesty and calmness. The man or woman who steadfastly clings for a period of five years to a frame of mind which establishes the growth of the above attributes will not only improve in happiness but will also increase in health and often becomes more prosperous. When we are in a positive contented frame of mind the body is at ease, the digestion is unhampered, the breathing is normal and we feel strong and vigorous.

On the other hand, the effects of those emotions and mental states which are not good extend to the entire body. With destructive emotions, the digestion is hampered or entirely stopped, the hands and feet are cold, the face is pale, breathing is shallow and a feeling of weakness is present. These harmful mental states produce powerful poisons in the body which will eat away health as acid eats away metal. These evil emotions keep you back from doing many things which you are able to do and to do well. They are like cruel, heartless masters cracking whips over the backs of slaves.

Question: Mr. Oliver M. asks: "Are the crepe soled shoes for children harmful in any way?"

Answer: I believe it is a good plan to have children wear any kind of soft soled shoes rather than the stiff soled ones. Their feet will remain stronger in these shoes because the child is forced to grip the ground with the toes more than in the stiff soled shoes. The jar from hard pavements is also lessened a great deal.

Horoscope

By Mary Blake

If September 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 to 10 a.m., from 3 to 3:40 p.m. and from 7 to 8:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 7 to 7:50 a.m., from 12 noon to 1:10 p.m. and from 5 to 5:45 p.m.

Influences operating on this date will tend to disrupt plans and to generally cause confusion. More than the usual number of people will be late for appointments. Instructions will be difficult to follow. Members of the same family will not get along well together on this day; too ready to criticize one another.

The child born on this September 17, cannot be counted on to follow a set course of action for any length of time; quick to "kick over the traces" without reason. Will do outstanding work at school if he can be made to apply himself; tends to be easily distracted. You will probably find that this child enjoys a good time more than most children, and he will sacrifice anything to that immediate end.

If September 18 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 10 a.m., from 4:30 to 6 p.m. and from 8:45 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 5 to 6 p.m.

You will quite possibly spend a good part of your day hectically hurrying about and in the long run you will accomplish little. Those who make a living from writing, advertising and publicity will have an abundance of ideas available which if properly used should prove fruitful. A day comparatively free from worry.

The child born on this September 18 will probably be possessed of a magnetic personality. It will, however, have entirely too good an opinion of itself, and due to its vanity will fail on frequent occasions to see the pitfalls in its path. When things get "too hot" for this child, it will come running to its parents for help.

If September 18 is the date of your birth, you are eager to acquire knowledge and will always be possessed with the desire to improve your mind. More than likely you are a person of great nervous energy. You work furiously when you do work, but your labors lack persistence and method. You like travel and get more from it than do most people. You probably have some ability along literary or musical lines.

Rain Halts Threshing In S. Saskatchewan

REGINA, Sept. 16. — Saskatchewan saw a pre-drouth autumn yesterday as the third general rain in as many weeks soaked down over the south of the province to brighten the 1934 crop outlook and halt threshing operations for the third time for another half week.

Motor traffic is practically at a standstill. Mud roads are impassable and highways only fair.

Most of the south is soaked and unthreshed grain is in danger of dropping another grade or two before harvesting operations can be resumed in and another three or four days.

Fire Prevention Week In October

OTTAWA, Sept. 16—Faced with an annual fire toll of 300 lives and $45,000,000 in property damage, Canada will set aside the week of Oct. 8-14 as a special fire prevention week. A proclamation to this effect was made yesterday in the Canada Gazette.

Gaffers Unimpressed

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 16—Old timers hereabouts are unimpressed by this year's drought, although it's so bad that farmers have to feed their cattle stored hay and ensilage corn fodder. The Gaffers recall a drought 75 years ago when cattle had to eat leaves to keep alive.

PROCEEDINGS FOR RECOVERY OF BACK PAY

Illegal Deductions Claimed —Hon. John Doull is Retained

MONTREAL, Sept. 16—Hon. John Doull, K.C., former attorney general of Nova Scotia, has been retained by the railway running trades to begin proceedings against Canadian railways for recovery of sums claimed to have been illegally deducted from wages of running trades workers since February, 1933. This announcement was made Friday by vice-presidents of the running trades, in conference here.

Not only will Mr. Doull begin proceedings in Nova Scotia but he will also "cause similar proceedings to be commended in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island," the announcement said. Like proceedings will also be instituted in all other Canadian provinces.

Yesterday was the final day on which the strike vote taken among the union's coast to coast membership was returnable to headquarters here.

The vice-presidents in conference here did not, however, consider the vote or begin tabulation of the result, that work being put over until the 21 general conference chairman assemble here on Sept. 25.

SAPIRO WILL GO BACK FOR TRIAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Aaron Sapiro, prominent figure in organization of Western Canada's grain co-operatives, now under indictment in Chicago on a charge of conspiracy to fix prices in four lines of business by threats of violence, agreed last night to surrender to Illinois authorities and return with them to Chicago.

Wheat Rolling Toward Churchill

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Sept. 16—Bound for Churchill, where it will comprise part of the tenth grain cargo to leave the northern port this season, several cars of wheat, grown in the Melfort-Prince Albert district, are rolling northward today. More will follow early next week.

"The Sign brings Customers"

Nearly three hundred years ago, and in these four words, La Fountaine summed up the reason and justification for its use

Signs and signboards are of great antiquity. There are allusions to them in classic writings, and specimens have been found in ancient ruins, sometimes painted, but more often carved. In the Middle Ages, when few people could read, every trade had its emblem, some of which have survived to our own day. From this we see that the modern Electric Sign has a long and distinguished ancestry, the object being not merely to assure that he who runs may read, but that he who reads will want the thing advertised.

The world's most famous streets are those that are the brightest lighted. Much of their light comes from their Electric Signs, which impart a picturesque quality that adds to the charm of the street and the fame of the city. Streets and names of such cities are readily recalled.

The Electric Utilities are providing a demonstrated service of value to the customers and an asset to the community.

Business Better Since Last March

TORONTO, Sept. 16—Figures issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics indicate business conditions in Canada have progressively improved since March of this year, before the National Recovery act was passed in the United States.

Although officials of the Canadian Manufacturers' association here would not express an opinion as to whether the increase in Canada's export trade as reported from the department of national revenues at Ottawa was due to influence of the NRA, Dominion statistics indicate it was not a major influence.

Council Will Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mrs. J. Clyde Macdonald to Open Home for Anniversary Reception

To celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Edmonton Local Council of Women, a reception will be held at the residence of Mrs. J. Clyde Macdonald, Wadhurst Road on Wednesday afternoon, eptember 27.

Guests of honor will be honorary officers of the council and past presidents, and any members of the first council, which was organized prior to the present council by Lady Aberdeen during her visit to Edmonton in 1894. There are still in the city a few members of the original council, which was disbanded some years before the formation of the present one by the late Mrs. O. C. Edwards in 1908.

Owing to the need for limitation of guests, three delegates of each affiliated society will be invited to attend. The president of each organization as a member of the Local Council of Women executive, will be invited.

Mrs. J. B. Saunders was the first president of the present council, and Mrs. W. D. Ferris acted as head of the organization in the first year, during which Mrs. Saunders was abroad.

It is expected that some special memento of the occasion will be prepared. Mrs. Will J. Ross, present president, will receive with Mrs. Macdonald, and Mrs. J. W. Cooper is in charge of arrangements.

To Reside In Montreal

MRS. ALLAN STUART HALL,
charming young society matron who has left to reside in eastern Canada. Mrs. Hall has been the president of the Lady Aberdeen League, an auxiliary to the Victorian Order of Nurses, and has been active in all branches of the work. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Magoon. Mr. Hall will be engaged in completing studies in medicine at McGill University.

Musical Club Completes Program For Winter Months

Annette Pepin Is Bride Of A. E. Brissette

A marriage of interest was quietly solmenized at St. Joachim's church, 110 street at half past six Saturday morning when Annette Pepin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Pepin, became the bride of Alphonse E. Brissette, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brissette. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Marie Alice Pepin, and Mr. Francis Brissette was his brother's best man. Mr. and Mrs. Brissette left later for Calgary and will return to make their home in Edmonton.

Tryna Newhouse President Junior Hadassah Chapter

Members of the Edmonton Junior Chapter of Hadassah met on Wednesday at the home of Miss Tryna Newhouse to make plans for the coming season. Officers elected for the coming term were: president, Miss Tryna Newhouse; vice-president, Miss Jean Cohen; secretary-treasurer, Miss Sylvia Ramelson; executive, Miss Estelle Wasserman and Miss Sara Rudolph.

After a general discussion of plans for the season, the hostess served refreshments.

Only one Canadian province, Ontario, borders on the Great Lakes; it touches four of the five lakes as well as part of the St. Lawrence river.

Bi-monthly Afternoon Recitals Will be Arranged

ONE of the greatest compensations for the length and severity of the winter months is the delightful program of music arranged each year by the Women's Musical Club of Edmonton. Commencing with a recital by Robert Forrest, tenor, and Eleanor Agnew, violinist, October 7, the program this season will extend into November, December and through January, February and March into the spring sunshine of April. Bi-monthly musical afternoons in the Masonic Temple bring members out on the coldest day to enjoy the delightful programs of the very finest music by out-of-town and local artists. Besides the regular program, there are usually a number of evening programs arranged to which the public is invited.

Mrs. J. A. Buchanan is the president this year, with Mrs. Vernon Barford and Miss K. H. Candy as vice-presidents. Mrs. Ernest Meaden is secretary, and Mrs. F. H. Norbury, treasurer, with a large executive committee.

Following is the general program arranged for the season 1933:

October 7—Recital by Robert Forrest, tenor, and Eleanor Agnew, violinist, (for members only). October 21—Miscellaneous program. November 4—Sea music. November 18—Mozart. December 2—Chamber music. December 16—Organ recital.

1934—January 6—Guest recital. January 20—Musical Club Chorus. February 3 — Elizabethan music. February 17—Modern composers. March 3—Students' program. March 10—Opera day. March 17—Irish music. Nomination day. April 7—Annual meeting and afternoon tea.

Labor Women To Hear Margaret Crang Tuesday

Miss Margaret Crang, who was graduated from the University of Alberta this year, will speak on "The Laws of Alberta" at the educational meeting of the Edmonton Women's Canadian Labor Council at the home of the president, Mrs. Ben Hager, 10073 93rd street, on Tuesday evening, September 19, at 8 o'clock.

Alderman James East, who has just recently returned from a trip to eastern Canada and the United States will give a travelogue.

There will be musical numbers and refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Fraternities Will Have Own Campus Houses

All Women's Greek Letter Orders Maintain Residences

Five long months' holiday inevitably lead back to work again, and here it is September with 'Varsity students dragging out their books, and busy studying academic calendars to decide what courses to take when registration day comes along.

Co-eds, with plans for serious work in their heads, have still an eye to that new fall wardrobe, and frocks as tawny as the autumn leaves, and as gay as the wearers themselves, will soon be seen in smart array on the campus.

For the first time this year, wearers of the women's fraternity pins will all have their own houses. Kappa Alpha Theta was the first fraternity to have a house and last year their college home in Garneau was a happy rendezvous. This year members of Delta Gamma will live in Miss Marjorie Allin's home, in Garneau. The Thetas have moved to Mrs. Cecil Race's house, and Pi Beta Phi, wearers of the arrow, will go to the home of Mrs. E. C. Flint, on 90 avenue. Members of Tri Delta Theta will live in Mrs. E. M. Kane's house in Garneau.

In spite of all the jolly college pictures, that dreams of a fraternity house call to mind; it isn't forgatten that just as strict house discipline, as is enforced in residence, is the rule. Each of the women's fraternities has its own house rules, and members must abide by them. So along with pyjama parties, and midnight frolics there are regular study hours, and "lights out" rules.

Members of the men's fraternities are well established in their houses, as in other years, and this year may find the campus residences well filled. For those who choose to belong to secret societies of the Greek letter, homes are being opened, and the houses that are the tradition of the older and bigger colleges are finding a place in Alberta.

Calendar

Canada First Club holding first meeting of the season Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Clyde Macdonald, 10260 Wadhurst Road. Colonel F. C. Jamieson, M.L.A., will speak on "Socialism". Meetings will be held the third Monday evening in each month this season.

Social-Personal

ALL over Alberta the stir of new activity is felt as the season advances. Perhaps the average individual feels that so long as nature is energetic in the summer, it's a case of "let George do it." But once the long earthly sleep is indicated, genus homo bestirs himself and prepares to throw his energies into a hundred and one channels. Which is perhaps another proof of his difference from (if you are not prepared to go so far as to call it superiority over) the beast of the field, bird of the air, etc.

All of which is by way of introduction to the fact that amateur dramatics, the new love of country and city, are about to begin. The human soul will find expression, however successfully, behind the footlights, and "emoting" will be the order of the day. Gestures will be practised and lines mumbled by stenographers on street cars and bookkeepers behind hall bedroom doors. Pictures of Hamlet and John Barrymore, actual or mental, will decorate many a homely pedestal, and the joys and sorrows that were once almost entirely the lot of good companions of the broad highway, or those flaming individualities of the Hollywoods, will be felt in many otherwise sane and work-a-day communities.

Edmonton prepares to welcome more and more newcomers into its own Little Theatre, and the Edmonton Players go their way bringing interesting vehicles to the city.

Play reading groups will simply shut out the sunlight, and backstage jargon will find its way to cocktail parties and baked bean suppers.

In spite of minor difficulties, the urge to create figures of the imagination has been a most interesting and justifiable one in Edmonton.

Not a little talent has emerged from the general medley of leads, character portrayals, scenic work and costume making. Not a little beauty has found its way across the footlights from the efforts of a group of people hard at work to entertain; and there have been moments when those who watch were "lifted" to that world of romance and make-believe that is, in spite of the talk of modern realism and sparkling sophistication, the only real greatness of the theatre.

by the load or by the season

DECIDE YOUR HEATING PROBLEM NOW

Don't put up with old-fashioned fuel another winter . . . enjoy the effortless, quiet, clean, uniform heat made possible only with GAS.

Your application for Gas Installation should be placed at once to permit the work being done at summer rates. We have many services yet to be installed before freeze-up. Convenient terms may be arranged.

You can have a Gas Burner installed in your furnace on easy monthly payments, along with your gas bill.

At no obligation to you, let one of our heating experts figure the cost of heating your home with GAS.

THE first question most people ask about GAS HEATING is "what will it cost."

Gas Heating serves and saves in so many ways it cannot be compared with ordinary fuel costs. One is care-free, effortless heating . . . the other is just fuel. For instance, there is the cost of illness. Gas Heating actually prevents ordinary winter ailments by maintaining even, healthful temperature in the home. There is the cost of dust and dirt. In Gas Heated homes, curtains, walls stay clean . . . redecorating costs are reduced to a minimum.

Another question involved in the cost of Gas Heating is the number of heating days you get for your money. Let a cold day swoop down in September or in the late Spring and the possessor of a coal furnace will more often shiver and suffer the chilly temperature, rather than all the bother of kindling a fire. With Gas Heating you just strike a match and light the burner. Almost instantly your rooms are comfortable.

Right through the winter there are no chilly days and no stuffy, sultry days in a Gas Heated home. At night the temperature is dropped to a comfortable sleeping degree . . . in the morning turn the gas a little higher . . . a thermostat will do it for you automatically.

With all these conveniences and advantages Gas Heating is decidedly economical as actual gas bills (available on request) will prove.

"Gas Doesn't Cost . . . . It Pays"

"NOT CONSTIPATED FOR SEVEN WEEKS"

Writes Mrs. Johnson After Using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in this unsolicited letter:

"Your ALL-BRAN surely relieves constipation. I am so glad over the good it has done me that I feel I must write and tell you of it.

"For lunch I take a banana, a large one. Six tablespoons of ALL-BRAN in a sauce dish, and dip banana at each bite until all is consumed. I haven't been constipated now for seven weeks."—Mrs. Louise Johnson. (Address furnished upon request.)

Constipation often causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. This condition is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further promote regular habits. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of patent medicines — often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Make Highly—Seasoned Sauces With Tomatoes

By SISTER MARY

Sauces wanted for winter use should be highly seasoned. Spices and seasonings mellow and blend with standing, and since the mission of the sauce is to whet the appetite, the sauce should be pleasantly piquant when opened for use.

Sister Mary

Catsup and chili sauce are more or less seasoned "to taste." The seasonings suggested in the recipes make zestful but not "hot" sauces, so you may want to add more cayenne pepper. Be sure to let the "taste" cool thoroughly before tasting and remember that the flavors become less pronounced as they stand.

TOMATO CATSUP

Eight quarts ripe tomatoes, 1 pound dry onions, 3 tablespoons salt, 2 teaspoons white pepper, 1 teaspoon cayenne pepper, 2 cups light brown sugar, 3 cups vinegar, 2 tablespoons broken stick cinnamon, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 1 tablespoon peppercorns, 1 tablespoon allspice berries.

Remove stems and cut tomatoes in quarters. Peel and slice onions. Cook until soft and rub through a sieve. Return to kettle with spices tied in a cheesecloth bag and boil until reduced one-third. Add sugar, salt, white and cayenne pepper and vinegar. Boil until thick, stirring with a long handled spoon to prevent sticking. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

CHILI SAUCE

Eighteen ripe tomatoes, 5 medium sized onions, 4 green peppers, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 1½ tablespoons salt, 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon, 1 teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon white pepper, ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Scald tomatoes and slip skins. Cut in slices. Remove seeds and pith from pepper and mince flesh. Peel and mince onions. Put all ingredients into preserving kettle and cook slowly until thick, about two hours. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

The spices in chili sauce are ground and the tomatoes are not strained. Otherwise, chili sauce and catsup are practically the same.

There are recipes for "cold" chili sauce, but these sauces do not keep well and cannot be recommended for general use.

Monday's Menu

What's What

Question—Since we moved to the suburbs we have many motor visitors, especially on Sunday. I thought of asking a group of them to Snuday night supper in our large sun parlor before the weather gets cold. Would bridge tables be all right? Is it necessary to wear evening dress? What sort of refreshments are best at this season?

LAUREL SPRINGS

Answer — Many hostesses use bridge tables and bridge sets—linen covers and napkins—for an al fresco supper. The refreshments, served on small tables, follow the old Sunday night tradition of cold meats, hot breads, coleslaw or tomato salad, potato chips and fruit—at this season peaches, pears and grapes. Choice of tea and coffee is offered. Either may be hot or iced. Condiments and pickles (in labeled receptacles) are on the centre of each table. The tea and coffee and the hot rolls or biscuits are served by an attendant, who later changes the plates and serves the fruit. Informal summer evening clothes are proper for a Sunday evening supper, indoors or out-of-doors. A woman wears a hat only when she is leaving immediately afterward to catch a train.

Question—When invited out to dinner and there are four or five forks at each place, which ones should be used first?

BERT.

Answer — Forks are placed in consecutive order for each course. Use the outer fork first.

Stand-up collars, somewhat like Catherine de Medici, are new notes on fur coats; also pouch sleeves, which have been developed from the puff.

Your Children

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"How are the children?" inquired Mrs. Holmes. Mrs. Clark, her caller, replied that they were very well.

"How fortunate," sighed Mrs. Holmes. "Beth has had a series of summer colds. I really don't believe she is fit to go back to school."

The conversation turned on school for a few minutes, but it was more about Beth's school prospects than about Mrs. Clark's children's school prospects.

The visitor, sensing this, listened as patiently as possible to all the misfortunes of Beth during the last two years.

Clothes were the next thing. Mrs. Clark said she wanted to take in a sale of rain coats on the way home.

CENTRE OF CONVERSATION

Mrs. Holmes related in detail all about Beth's rain coat. Then she went over Beth's wardrobe, piece by piece—where she had seen the plaid dress and how she had copied it for half price; how it happened that her aunt had knitted her a green sweater instead of a blue; and how the dimity had faded.

Mrs. Clark was there an hour. In that time her hostess turned every trick of conversation toward Beth. Beth sat and listened. When she had the opportunity, she would say, "Mamma, tell Mrs. Clark about the time I fell into the lake," or "Tell about the time the lady at the library said I was smart."

We are interested in Beth.

She had gone down the street to her aunt's. Her aunt had callers.

Nobody was paying much attention to Beth. She sat a while then said suddenly, "Dear me! Dear me! Dear me!"

Everybody stopped and looked at her. "What's wrong?" asked her aunt.

"Oh—I guess—never mind," said Beth and sat down again.

AUNTIE STEPS IN

The talk went on. This would not do. "I'm not very well," she said suddenly. "I guess I can't go to school."

Everybody stared for a minute and then went on talking about a tennis tournament.

Beth broke in a dozen times without success. Finally she said, "I know a nice dance. I'll do it on the grass."

"You won't," snapped auntie. "You're going home."

Beth went off to tell her mother how she had been insulted. Over the phone that evening the two sisters had it out.

"People get tired of hearing about Beth," said auntie. "And they get tired hearing her, too. You've made her think she is the centre of the universe. It isn't her fault. Try to be interested in other people's children and try to get her interested in some one else besides herself. If you don't watch out she's going to be called 'The Pest.' And will you like that?"

We must not be too hard on either this little girl or her mother. But if we are in danger of over-exploiting our children, they are in danger, too. Nobody likes the over-important child. It is a ruinous course to take.

PARTY AT HUGHENDEN

HUGHENDEN, Sept. 16.—A farewell party for Mr. Alex Taylor, who has been transferred by his bank to Myrnam, was held on Tuesday evening by Hughenden young people.

The jaunty fur swagger coat has invaded Paris in mole, mink, caracul or lapin—rabbit. It has big pockets, negligent collar and exceedingly swanky air.

KEEP KISSABLE DOROTHY WARNS

A man asserts that 99 per cent. of the women who lose their husbands do so because they do not take the trouble to keep them, and that if wives would use the same allure and make as much effort to keep their husbands fascinated as they did to get them in the first place, matrimony would become a grand sweet song instead of the scrapping match it mostly is now, and it would virtually do away with divorce.

Dorothy Dix

All of which is, of course, only too true. Heaven knows that in this column I have stressed often enough the folly of wives throwing away the bait with which they hooked their poor fish, and warned them that there was no place between the altar and the grave in which a woman could sit down and take things easy and be certain that she had landed her catch, and that it wouldn't flop back into the stream and onto the line of some other fisherwoman.

For a woman's selling herself to her husband isn't a stunt that she can put over once and be done with. It is a job that she has to do over again every day as long as she lives if she keeps him content with his bargain, and prevents his turning covetous eyes on the newest thing in flappers with streamline effects and fresh paint and all the new gadgets.

And, alas, only too many women never realize this. They think because the men to whom they are married once loved them they will go on automatically loving them to the end of the chapter, no matter how unattractive and disagreeable they become. They believe that the wedding ceremony marks the end of a woman's courtship of a man, instead of realizing it is just the beginning of her wooing of him if she is to keep what she has won. And all too many women are committed to the theory that marriage gives them the right to go shabby and sloppy around home, eat onions and tell their husbands home truths.

Undoubtedly if all women kept up after marriage the art and wiles with which they lured their husbands into the holy estate, it would make a tremendous difference in domestic life. For, after all, husbands are still mere men with men's natural reactions toward femininity, and it is much easier on the eyes to gaze upon a pretty, daintily dressed woman than it is upon one in a soiled kimono with cold cream on her face and curl papers on her hair.

It is much more agreeable to spend an evening at home with a wife who is cheerful and chatty and a good listener, who lends an attentive ear while her husband talks about himself and his plans and what he said to the boss and the boss said to him, than it is to have as a fireside companion a wife who is a bore or a whiner or a complainer and whose only topic of conversation consists in demanding to know why he doesn't make as much money as some other man does.

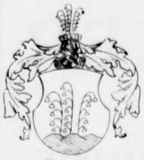
Certainly the wife who desires to be kissed must keep herself kissable, and the one who wants to keep her husband glad he married her must wreathe matrimony with roses instead of sticking it full of tacks.

But if women so often seem to fold away the glamour of courtship with their wedding veils, the fault is not always wholly theirs. Just as often it is the man's, because he would not play up to them, and no woman can give a very convincing impersonation of a Lady Love without a lover. Juliet must have her Romeo, or else her impassioned vows become the maunderings of one who has become cuckoo and is talking to herself.

So it is folly to talk about wives holding husbands who want to get away, and who will not play the game. If they knew the secret of every vamp from Lilith down to Peggy Joyce, they still couldn't do it, because you can't put any pep into making love to a jellyfish or a refrigerator. And if husbands want their wives to keep the love fires burning brightly at home, they've got to furnish a lot of the fuel themselves.

DOROTHY DIX.

Who Are You?



Brosius

This coat of arms is a reproduction of the arms originally granted to Sir Johann von Brosius, knight crusader of Germany in 1096. This was at the time of the first crusade and the princes and knights being the chosen leaders, adopted various devices and emblems by which their commands might be distinguished.

In the language of ancient heraldry, lilies signified purity, being emblematic of the Holy Virgin. The triple mount denoted the Trinity.

The Brosius family in America was represented as early as 1793 by Henry Brosius, who was living in Philadelphia. Some branches of the Brosius family have chosen to spell the name Brocius.

Woman Gets Back to Normal Weight

AFTER 16 YEARS

Do you know what was your weight on your wedding day? And do the scales show the same record to-day? Why not get back to your old normal weight and girlish figure—just as this woman did:—

"About 18 months ago," she writes, "I started to put on weight badly—and that in spite of living half-way up a hill and having to walk up and down very frequently. I tried many things, and at last started on Kruschen. I have been taking it consistently since, and now I am back to normal weight—134 lbs., just as I was when I married 16 years ago. I feel very much better in myself, too.

"Only two or three days ago I met a lady who had been away on a trip, and she remarked how much younger and slimmer I looked. Another, last Saturday, said I had quite a girlish figure now. I think that good for my age—I am 40."—(Mrs.) A. H.

Kruschen combats the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue.

You can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by cutting out fatty meats and pastries and going light on butter, cream and potatoes.

BAKER MUSIC SCHOOL MOVES HEADQUARTERS

Individual Home Study Instruction is Feature of Activities

Removal of his school of music, one door east to larger and more complete quarters, was announced on Saturday by Leon I. Baker, director of Baker's School of Music. The studio address now is 9545 106A avenue, with phone No. 24230. The school is equipped to provide the best and most modern musical instruction.

The school provides tuition in piano, theory, composition and all fretted instruments.

A feature of the school's work is the individual home study instruction. This instruction is the result of 14 years of intensive perfecting and is, according to Mr. Baker's belief, the most successful yet offered to the public. Hundreds of pupils all over the west are using it with splendid results. Many school teachers are studying courses to help them teach music in the schoolroom.

Mr. Baker and his Hawaiian guitar orchestra have given unstintingly of their time in appearing on the platform for deserving causes.

Mr. Bake, is president of the Edmonton Piano Teachers' Association, in the interests of which organization he is carrying out valuable work.

No. 1 Wheat

REDWATER, Sept. 16. — Threshing is general throughout the district and the results of this year's crop seem satisfactory. E. Royer threshed garnet wheat as early as August 20, while Fred Tkachuk threshed 310 bushels of reward on August 26 which graded No. 1 Northern. Some late crops have been slightly damaged by frost.

The hawthorn is the state flower of Missouri.

Chairman of Movement to Book Artists

Robert Muir

Robert Muir, chairman of the recently formed Edmonton branch of the Canadian Community Concert Association. This organization is now working toward bringing here during the coming musical season, artists of international reputation. If these efforts are crowned with success, such noted artists as Lawrence Tibbett, Richard Crooks and Edward Johnson are possible visitors in the very near future.

Namao Farmer Has Chest Crushed in Tractor Accident

W. A. Carson, 66, Namao farmer, suffered injuries to his chest believed to be serious when he backed his tractor under the ledge of a threshing machine and was crushed against the steering wheel on Thursday.

Testing out his tractor in preparation for threshing operations which he planned to start on Monday, he backed it up to the separator but somehow failed to stop the machine and ran under the edge of the thresher.

A city doctor was called and gave him medical attention Thursday and Friday but he refused to go to hospital, stating that he does not like hospitals.

The injured man is a brother of S. A. Carson, M.L.A.

OPERA-COMIQUE SUBSIDY

Despite the opposition of the government, the Chamber of Deputies has sustained the Ministry of Finances in the recommendation to increase the subsidy of the Paris Opera-Comique to 3,000,000 francs from 700,000, according to a report in the French musical weekly Le Guide du Concert.

Moose Jaw Car Crash Proves Fatal

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 16.—A Moose Jaw woman was injured fatally and two women from Kitchener, Ont., were hurt seriously in a car accident occurring near Mossbank, about 40 miles south of here, late Wednesday. Mrs. William V. Gies, 58, died at her home here last night from internal injuries and severe shock.

Mrs. J. Chamberlain and her daughter, Miss Margaret Chamberlain, 19, both of Kitchener, are in serious condition at the home of Cal Sutor, near where the mishap took place.

SYMPHONY BY ELGAR

Sir Edward Elgar is completing a new symphony, and the dedication will be to the British Broadcasting Corporation, probably the first corporation to be inscribed on the title page of a symphony in this way. The first performance will be given next fall. The symphony will be the first large-scale work Sir Edward has written since his 'cello concerto, which was first performed at Queen's Hall in London in 1919.

Elgar has written two symphonies, the first in A flat, and the second dedicated to the memory of King Edward VII, produced in 1911.

Alleged "Mining Town" Of Beverly Gets New Jolt

Fraud Hinted At In Certificate Granted To Incorporate Mine

H. A. Mackie, K.C., States Report Should Have Shown Co. Insolvent

BEVERLY, Sept. 16—This alleged "Mining Town" which might be supposedly considered as being beyond astonishment received a few additional surprises on Friday night in the town hall when H. A. Mackie K.C., reviewed for a very attentive audience his auditor's report on the manner in which the now defunct Beverly Coal Co., had operated.

Mr. Mackie charged that although P. J. Rowe who was managing director and the associate directors might never, while operating the mine, have done anything wrong by malice, fraud, or with criminal intent, that never in one single instance had they made the mistake of doing anything right.

According to the auditor's report the certificate granted by the government to incorporate as a joint stock company must have been fraudulently obtained. The mine was capitalized at $50,000. To begin operations it was necessary to have $20,000 cash in hand, but less than $15,000 was in hand when the operations began.

OUTSPOKEN COMMENT

How a report could have been evolved that satisfied the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners that Beverly Ltd., was financially able to pay wages and was thereby granted a certificate exempting it from the usual bond required to protect the workers is still one of the unsolved mysteries. To quote Mr. Mackie, "the auditor's report should have shown even a damned fool that the company was insolvent."

A few other clerical errors and technical irregularities, were presented. In certain cases money that had been paid on stock was later withdrawn and repaid to the intending purchasers. Commissions were paid for the sale of stock strictly against the declared principles of the prospectus issued. No proper books were kept with a result that on a capitalization of $50,000 the sum of $71,000 was spent for equipment, etc. The sum of $41,000 was owing in wages and yet Mr. Rowe had publicly declared that the company was financially sound.

NEITHER WAS SOUND

At no point in the auditor's report, said Mr. Mackie was there any evidence to show where either the mine or the directors' minds had been financially sound. At this point Mr. Mackie emphasized the fact that not one step ever taken by Beverly Ltd. had been lawful.

The fact that Beverly has been declared a mining town on a resolution from a council meeting which as far as town records show or councillors can recall never took place was just one more snarl in the tangle.

Further investigation is pending. Many matters have not been cleared up and the investigation may not be concluded before a thorough airing on the floor of the house which is understood is to be demanded at the coming session of the legislature.

Several business officials from Grande Prairie paid a visit to Edmonton Saturday in connection with an attempt being made to establish a creamery at that point. Headed by Mayor P. J. Tooley, the party also included Charles Spencer, chairman of the Grande Prairie School Board, and F. E. Spicer.

M'LEAN APPEAL OPENS MONDAY

William McLean will appear before the appellate division of the supreme court of Alberta at the court house here on Monday, when Neil Primrose, Vegreville lawyer, pleads for the life of the Tennessee youth at the hearing of the appeal against the sentence of death imposed on young McLean for the murder of Walter J. Parsille, of Manville.

Mr. Primrose appeared before Mr. Justice Mitchell in supreme court chambers Saturday and made the application to have his client present at the hearing. No objection was raised. The convicted man is now at Fort Saskatchewan jail.

McLean was convicted along with his father, Kenneth McLean, the father and son being charged separately with the murder. The son gave his evidence against his father, and later, the father, in a confession to police, took the whole blame. The hanging of the two men is set for early October.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Hollywood's immense film vaults are filled with millions of dollars worth of pictures, pictures which have absolutely no further value to the studios.

Jesse L. Lasky, veteran film producer, wants to turn them over to the schools—give the whole bunch to various boards of education for use in instructing school children in history, geography and other subjects dealt with at one time or another by the film industry.

Boy, oh boy, wouldn't that be something!

RUTH LETT, aged 13, Garneau School: "Oh, swell! I think that idea is a hotcha. Think how interesting it would make lessons if we could see and hear them with talking movies. It certainly would be a fine thing to have history and geography taught with movies, because I think they are the hardest subjects in school."

HENRY JAMIESON, aged 11, Garneau School: "I'd say that would be all right. We would probably learn something from them. But I won't say too much on the subject—it would be good to try it out, but I am not sure how well it would work."

ALTHEA McCORMICK, aged 11, Garneau School: "Sure. That would be great. It would pep up the lessons and make them easier to learn. Geography would be swell if we could learn it from movies. (Do you think it might get you away from book studying?—B. I. R.) Oh, we'd get along."

JOHN HARRIS, aged 11, Garneau School: "Boy, that's my idea of system. I think it would put new life into school. It would make lessons more interesting and in that way maybe make us better in our studies and make us work harder. I saw "Bring 'Em Back Alive" and it was good stuff. If we had pictures like that for geography studies, we would learn more geography in one day than we would in a month from text books alone."

IRENE SPIESMAN, aged 11, King Edward Park School: "Yes, sir! I'm all for movies in the schools—that is twice as good a way to learn lessons as to read them and hear lectures. Put me down as movie-minded scholar number one."

ARTHUR PRIOR, aged 12, met on 102nd avenue: "What, movies for school? You bet, that would be swell. That idea gets my full okay."

• • •

JOHN SMITH, aged 10½, met on Market Square: "Oh, you're the Inquiring Reporter, are you. Well, that's a real idea. You can mark up my vote for school movies any day and every day. Yowsah!"

DIRT ROADS IN BAD CONDITION

Duck hunters would be well advised to remain on the gravelled roads during their shooting expeditions this week-end, as reports received from points in Northern Alberta by the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Motor Association show that the majority of dirt roads are in bad shape.

Roads from Edmonton to Athabasca, Peace River and Fort St. John are in poor condition, while the highway from Edmonton to Smoky Lake and St. Paul has also suffered as a result of recent rains.

Wet weather also prevailed Friday between this city and Lloydminster.

The Edmonton-Calgary highway is in fair condition, although bad in spots, particularly between this city aand Leduc.

The highway between Edmonton, Mayerthorpe and Whitecourt is in good condition as no rain was reported from these points.

"Liberalism and the C.C.F.," will be the topic of an address by George Van Allen, K.C., at a general meeting of the Young Men's Liberal association, at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, in the new Liberal club rooms in the basement of the McLeod building. The general public as well as all members are invited to attend the meeting. Plans for the association's activities during the fall and winter season will be announced.

HUGH BAKER TO RETURN TO CITY

After seven years spent in London in connection with the provincial government office there, Hugh Baker, former secretary to Premier Charles Stewart and Premier Herbert H. Greenfield, has landed on Canadian soil on his way back to this city.

Mr. Baker, one of the most popular government officials and a prominent athlete, went to England when the Alberta government office was opened. Although it has been closed since the return to this country two years ago of Mr. Greenfield, Mr. Baker remained in London to close out affairs and in the hope that he would be transferred to the Canadian High Commissioner's office to deal with any matters affecting Alberta that might come up. This was found impracticable and Mr. Baker was recalled by Acting Preimer Hon. George Hoadley, who stated that Mr. Baker would be offered continued service with the government.

CITY REQUESTS $500,000 LOAN FROM OTTAWA

But Brownlee Asks Only $300,000—No Answer Received Here Yet

No word had yet been received by the city from Ottawa in connection with the request made by Edmonton for a $500,000 loan from the federal government, Mayor D. K. Knott said Saturday.

It was announced Friday that Premier J. E. Brownlee had submitted a request to Premier R. B. Bennett asking for a loan of $300,000 each for both Edmonton and Calgary to finance the cities' share of relief costs.

MAYOR SURPRISED

Mayor Knott was surprised to discover that only $300,000 had been requested by Premier Brownlee. The loan asked for, he said, was $500,000. In 1932 both cities received loans of $250,000 each through the provincial government, secured by an exchange of treasury notes.

Those notes were taken by the provincial government as security and in turn the Dominion accepted province of Alberta treasury notes.

There is now a more serious cash situation existing in both cities and the requested loan has been increased to $500,000.

LEFT TO PREMIER

Referring to the Ottawa dispatch, Mayor A. Davison, of Calgary, who was a visitor to the city Friday, said that while $500,000 was the amount requested both cities, this matter had been left to the judgment of Premier Brownlee. The Calgary mayor concluded that the Alberta premier had considered it wiser to apply for a lesser amount.

WANT CASH RELIEF

Edmonton and Calgary are also seeking the permission of the federal government to issue relief in cash, rather than in kind. Mayor Knott said that such a system would cut down the cost of relief administration and would also tend to lessen the difficulties eperienced under the present system of issuing grocery orders and various relief allowances.

Under the proposed scheme, each recipient of relief would receive weekly cheques instead of orders.

To Continue His Studies At Oxford

STANLEY RANDS, University of Alberta Rhodes Scholar, who left Edmonton Friday evening for Oxford University where he will continue his studies. For the past two years Mr. Rands has been a student of theology at St. Stevens College.

CITY FURNITURE STORE ROBBED

That $300 in coppers, nickels, dimes and quarters had been stolen from the windows between 4 and 6 a.m. Saturday, was the report made to police by the Crescent Furniture Company, corner of 98 street and Jasper avenue. Investigation by city detectives is being made, Chris. Shaw, fingerprint photographer being on the scene first thing Saturday morning.

The money, all in change was glued onto big two foot letters strung around 50 feet frontage of the Crescent windows. "Crescent 21st anniversary sale" was spelled out in letters of cardboard, glue and coin.

According to the report the burglars dropped in through the skylight and stripped the windows. A few coins, nickels, which the report says were not tightly glued, dropped off onto the floor. Constable G. Woodward of the prowler car patrol passed the store front at 4 a.m. and noted everything to be O.K. His next call at 6 a.m. found the big money-plastered letters missing.

Reduced Yield

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Sept. 16.—Wheat yield for the Lethbridge railway division is placed at 18,000,000 bushels by a Lethbridge Herald crop survey. About 2,000,000 bushels of this figure are expected to be retained by the farmers for seed and feed. Although the yield is below last year's the return to the farmer is expected to be as great because of increased wheat prices.

Riverdale Community League will hold its first meeting of the season on Monday, Sept. 19, at 8 p.m., in the Community Hall. Nominations for the various offices will be received for the ensuing year, and other matters of immediate importance will be dealt with.

Varied Programs for Local Theatres Next Week

RIALTO OFFERS DOUBLE BILL OF BRITISH FILMS

"Letting in Sunshine" and "The Man Who Won" on Program

Many exterior scenes for "Letting in the Sunshine", showing at Rialto Theatre all next week, were filmed in Park Lane, the traditional home of London's millionaires.

Albert Burdon, the little North Country comedian who made such a successful debut recently in "The Maid of the Mountains" reaches in his second film the heights of stardom. As Nobby Greene—window cleaner and amateur detective—he carries the "Burdon" of the laughs on his small shoulders and the result is the craziest, funniest laughter-riot ever seen.

Nobby is in love wit Jane and while pursuing his romance stumbles upon a plot to steal a society girl's valuable necklace. They do their best to frustrate the crooks who in turn give the two sleuths a hot time, but eventually right prospers and a happy future is assured for Jane and Nobby.

Burdon has for his heroine the charming little comedienne, Renee Gadd, who contributes largely to the fun and Molly Lamont, Henry Mollison, Herbert Langley and Tonie Bruce are included in the supporting cast.

Every ingredient for first class entertainment has been included in the production of this film. The story by Anthony Asquith, and adapted by Con West and Herbert Sargent, contains humorous situations, a thrilling frustration of a carefully laid plot to steal a valuable necklace, a spectacular fancy dress ball, and above all a love story between a humble worker and his servant sweet heart, which is true-to-life. In addition the nimble-minded Lupino Lane was responsible for the direction of the film.

The screen adaptation of Titheradge's novel has been titled "The Man Who Won." It will be shown as the added feature all next week on the same program. Heather Angel and Henry Kendall have the featured roles supported by Nora Swinburne, Sam Livesey and a large cast.

The latest Metrotone completes a splendid show.

Harlow, Gable With Princess

Jean Harlow and Clark Gable are reunited as co-stars by popular demand in "Hold Your Man," which come today to the Princess theatre. The smashing success of "Red Dust," in which they were teamed romantically, brought such a response from public and exhibitors that Anita Loos, famous "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" author, was assigned to provide a new vehicle for the screen lovers.

Slashes Thigh

LEDUC, Sept. 16.—Coasting down a slide on the Leduc school grounds, a young boy named Burns suffered a painful injury when the blade of a jacknife, which was protruding through the slide, slashed his thigh, the wound requiring five stitches.

BUSBY, Sept. 16.—With business on the upgrade in Busby, Graham's new store is showing rapid development and lumber is on the ground for a new garage.

Strand Books War Drama On Screen Today

"Captured!" which advance reports indicate to be one of the most important pictures of the year, is said to be a powerful drama with an unusually strong live tale that is laid in the German military prison camps during the World War. It opens today at the Strand Theatre with Leslie Howard, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Paul Lukas and Margaret Lindsay playing the stellar roles.

Leslie Howard

Although most of the action takes place in the prison camp, the strength of the story lies in the unusual triangle involving Howard, Fairbanks and Lindsay who is married to Howard but discovers she loves Fairbanks. Both men are fellow prisoners in the same camp. Vivid dramas of love, hate, jealousy, despair and even madness among the hundreds of men incarcerated behind the German lines, are climaxed by a most sensational denouement when Howard, as the Victoria Cross officer, discovers his wife and friend's unfaithfulness.

A spectacular delivery of all the prisoners engineered by Howard, his solution to his live problem, and his deed more daring than that for which he won his decoration, are just a few of the highlights that are said to make "Captured!" remarkable entertainment.

The Polish composer Jarecki has been named director of the Conservatory and the Opera of Stanislau in Poland.

CAPITOL PLAYS SCREENFUL OF BEAUTY TODAY

"Moonlight and Pretzels" Boasts Cast From Stage, Radio, Screen

Picked by a distinguished group of American artists and illustrators as Broadway's "fifty most perfect show girls," a chorus seldom equalled for beauty and precision either on stage or screen, appears in "Moonlight and Pretzels", a musical comedy which opens a three-day engagement at the Capitol today.

Mary Brian

When Manager Walter Wilson of the Capitol saw the preview of "Moonlight and Pretzels" he was enthusiastic.

"Capitol patrons are going to see a picture better than '42nd Street' and bigger than 'Gold Diggers,'" he said.

Bob Montgomery

The greatest galaxy of stage, screen and radio stars ever brought together in one show appear in "Moonlight and Pretzels." Roger Pryor, Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo, Lillian Miles, Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire, the Four Eton Boys, and Frank and Milt Britton's famous comedy band are only a few of the headliners that appear in the picture which Karl Freund and Monte Brice co-directed.

Helen Hayes

Booked for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday is "Another Language," starring Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery.

Dreamland Has Double Feature

Ralph Bellamy is divorced from one woman and marries another woman twice in "Second Hand Wife," the picture co-featuring Sally Eilers and Ralph Bellamy, coming to the Dreamland theatre. The story is based on one of Kathleen Norris' latest novels and depicts the romantic and problematic adventure of a married man and a private secretary who are truly in love with each other. The role of the neglectful, social-climbing wife is portrayed by Helen Vinson. Others in the cast are Dorothy Christy, Victor Jory, Effie Ellsler, Karol Kay, Esther Howard, Clay Clement and Nella Walker.

Ratke Named Deputy

LEDUC, Sept. 16—At the meeting of Liberty M.D. council, Councillor Ratke was appointed deputy reeve for the ensuing six months. Councillors who have a surplus from their divisional appropriations were authorized to expend it on road construction in their own divisions.

Here's Good One on Fans of Contests

In last Saturday's Bulletin there appeared the names of the first six stars in the big "Know Your Star's Voice" contest. The second name given in the list was Maurcie Chevalier. And the list was compiled by two of the theatre managers in town. But it is a question as to whether this second star was W. C. Fields and not Chevalier. The theatre managers don't know positively themselves.

So in order to help you to decide, the four theatres, Capitol, Strand, Empress and Dreamland, are all going to show the first six stars again this coming week—as well as the third six stars. See them again and decide for yourself.

Anyway it certainly goes to show that there is absolutely no chance of the managers or staffs of the theatres being able to tell their friends exactly who the stars are—they don't know themselves.

School Fair Held

ARDROSSAN, Sept. 16. — A fine class of exhibits and keen competition in sports featured the annual school fair held at Ardrossan, Agricola students annexed the majority of awards.

The Venus flytrap is not the only plant which catches and eats insects; the teasel, sarracenia and nepenthes are among the other plants which do so.

DIX STAR AT EMPRESS NOW

How Richard Dix drives and wavers between two women and plays the public for suckers as head of an advertising agency, is briskly and daringly recounted in "No Marriage Ties" his new picture coming to the Empress on Monday for a three-day run.

Elizabeth Allen

The picture provides Dix with opportunities to display subtle humor and dramatic power, plus the romanticism remindful of his early starring roles. The action starts in a speakeasy in which Dix, as Bruce Foster, picks up Peggy Wilson and and advertising job. The pair live happily though unconventionally together until Bruce becomes engaged to Adrienne Deane, a beautiful society woman. When he tells Peggy about it, she bids him goodbye, suddenly he realizes whom he wants. He breaks with Adrienne, but Peggy then reproaches him mercilessly, and leaves for Paris. Business enemies unthrone Bruce and he becomes a derelict, until real love comes to rescue him.

Dix's leading lady, Elizabeth Allan, striking young British actress, has the role of Peggy Wilson, while Doris Kenyon returns to the screen in the part of Adrienne.

Child marriages are frequent in Persia.

During the first three months of 1933, losses due to fires in England showed a remarkable decrease; in the first quarter of 1920, a damage worth $20,000,000 was done, while in the same period of this year the loss was $10,000,000.

P'ATS AND PANS

by BILL LEWIS

Intrigued by the stories that came out of St. Albert a week or so agone, your agent was lured west of the city last night to witness a return engagement between Harold "Heartless" McMasters, whom my friend "Ole Doc" Gilroy has playfully named the "unknown undertaker," and "Slashing Sam" Logan, the Cree Cannibal. . . . And I never hope to see better entertainment if I far surpass the allotted span of three-score-and-ten. . . . .

Air blue with tobacco smoke and a temporary ring spaced off in the centre of a dance-floor was the scene that presented itself as yours truly made his way to the centre of activities in the loft of a barn that is usually given over to old-time dances. . . . It reminded me strangely of the old Dominion Boxing Club operated by Eddie Franks here many semesters back. . . . .

There was a suggestion of Louis "Kid" Scaler's ring shows in the old Bijou Theatre in the scene as I glimpsed "Heartless Harold" seated in a corner of the ring. It was in the Bijou long ago that first the battling sandwich-man made his appearance locally as a fighter. . . . But who was that I saw beside him as a second? . . . Another look, and it was none other than Pete McCready, the versatile ball player, himself. . . . A glance to the other corner and there was Bud Spiesman, the Cubs' great hurler, seconding the salubrious "Slashing Sam." . . . What a picture! . . . .

Time was, in those old Bijou days, that the ubiquitous undertaker had no rivals in the matter of merriment, fistically speaking. . . . Harold held sole rights on the spotlight. . . . But, imagine another of practically the same type, with partly the blood of Indian progenitors flowing in his veins, and you have the picture of his playmate, "Slashing Sam." . . .

Marquis of Queensbury rules hold no terrors for these two exponents of the sour science. . . . They squirm, squabble and slug. It is hard to pick a winner. . . . I look at McCready and Spiesman. . . . They seem anxious to get into the battle themselves. As if there is not plenty of fun anyway. . . . Finally, Pete is advised not to take any action that might endanger his amateur status. . . . Or something. . . . So the McMaster-Logan brawl goes on . . . .

Through 10 fretful frames the contest continues. . . . Each hit the other with everything but one of the cows that were snoring downstairs. . . . Around the ring were men whose names have been synonymous with local sport for years. . . . Every single one enjoyed himself heartily. . . . And the bout was eventually declared a draw. . . . Which probably made the evening a complete success. . . . Or so I thought. . . . .

Bowling

Sixteen teams, with over 80 members, will launch the Men's Mercantile Ten Pin Bowling league's 1933-34 season over the alleys of the Recreation Bowling Academy on Monday, Sept. 18. It promises to be one of the outstanding opening nights in the history of the league.

At a meeting held last night in the Recreation, Bob Garn, representative of the Edmonton Ten Pin Bowling associatoin, urged that the Mercantile league become affiliated with the association and after a discussion, this was approved. The Mercantile is one of the outstanding bowling organizations in this city and its joining up with the association will bolster the strength of the latter.

The Mercantilers decided to set the handicap this year on the basis of four-fifths of the difference between team averages.

Mrs. William Rice was re-elected secretary of the "Amps" Bowling league at an enthusiastic meeting held in the Recreation Bowling Academy last night. Once more the league will be comprised of four teams and the opening games of the 1933-34 schedule will be played on the night of Friday, Sept. 22.

On Monday afternoon two important bowling meetings are to be held in the Recreation when the Lucky Strike Ladies and the Old-Timers meet at 2:30 o'clock. Reorganization of the two leagues will be carried out, along with the election of the officers and arrangements will be made for the start of a new season.

Monday night at 8.00 o'clock the Packers Ten Pin Bowling league will meet, and it is likely that the league will open its season on Wednesday night.

New Westminster Leads In Lacrosse

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Sept. 16.—New Westminster Salmonbellies swamped St. Helen's squad from Vancouver, 23-6, here Friday night in the first game of a two-out-of-three series for the British Columbia senior box lacrosse championship.

The second game will be played Tuesday next in Vancouver, and the third, if necessary, in New Westminster, probably Wednesday.

BALL PLAYOFF IS POSTPONED ACCOUNT RAIN

Saskatchewan Champions May Open With Cocals Next Wednesday

Inter - provincial championship senior baseball series between Saskatchewan and Alberta titleholders has been postponed for a few days, at least, according to announcement made by local officials late last night. The series was to have opened at Renfrew Park this afternoon but rain here and the raining-out of Saskatchewan's final yesterday forced the postponement.

It was hoped to have the titular playoff between Norman Dodge's Cubs and either Regina Nationals or Saskatoon Distributors commence today but failure of Saskatchewan to declare a champion and the condition of the weather here made this impossible.

Just when it will be able to continue the series is not definitely known but officials of the local team are hoping that they will be able to start next Wednesday.

ROCHESTER HAS ONE GAME LEAD

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 16.—Rochester Red Wings went one up on the Newark Bears in their International League play-off series here Friday night by capturing the third game played under the floodlights at Red Wing Stadium, 5-3.

The Wings, who had been able to beat the Bears in only three games here during the regular league season, staged a seventh inning uprising to clinch the victory after Newark had tied the score in the sixth. Dutch Henry who had been engaged in a spirited mound duel with Johnny Broaca, the ex-Yale star, slashed out a single with the bases loaded to send in two runners.

Tommy Carey's one bagger accounted for the third and last Red Wing run.

HORSES PREPARE FOR RICH RACE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Seventeen two-year-olds, 15 colts and two fillies, Friday peered out over a rain-soaked course where today they will match strides for the turf's richest north American prize in the 44th Running of the $100,000 Futurity at Belmont Park.

The widened straightaway, down which the pick of United States juveniles will dash for 6¾ furlongs was a sea of mud with little likelihood it would be any better by post time, 3 p.m. E.S.T., Saturday. A steady rain showed no signs of ceasing.

Girl Teams Meet For Double Card At Boyle Street

Picked players and a double-header, is the program offered by the girls' league officials for Sunday at Boyle Street diamond starting at 1:30 o'clock.

All proceeds from these two exhibition games will go to the aid of girls now injured from playing games during the season. With medical expenses mounting to a fairly high figure, league officials scheduled these games.

Net Teams Are Now Deadlocked

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16—Fred Perry of England, U.S. singles champion, and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia were held to a draw by Jim Satho and Rysouke Munio, Japanese Davis cup players, in an exhibition match opening the Pacific southwest tennis championship tournament Friday.

Perry and Van Ryn won the first set, 6-0, but their opponents rallied in the second, broke through Perry's service in the 32nd game and won 13-15.

Altomahs Prepare For Opening Game

CALGARY, Sept. 16.—Runners-up to the Regina Roughriders for western Canada's senior rugby title last year, Calgary Altomah Indians prepared Friday night for their first test of the current campaign. They will participate in an exhibition match today with the husky youngsters of the junior Altomah squad.

Alex McKenzie, former Balmy Beach star and captain of the senior Indians, will lead a strong squad into action.

Chestnut Filly Shatters Track Record To Win

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16—Georgia Lily, W. A. Dutton's three-year-old chestnut filly, raced the 5½ furlongs in the Kildonan Handicap at Whittier Park Friday in 1.07, clipping by one-fifth of a second the track record made two years ago by Captain Somers.

Koji ran second and Eisenberg third. The Daily Double was worth $135.20 today.

Sun Glass II fell in the last race, throwing and injuring his jockey, F. Law.

JUNIORS OPEN CITY PLAYOFF RENFREW PARK

Arrow Busses Will Oppose Young Grid Squad In Title Game Sunday

With weather permitting, Arrow Busses and Young Liberals will renew their ball warfare for the city championship in a sudden death game at Renfrew Park on Sunday starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Owing to a further delay in the senior Saskatchewan series President Dave Little gained the sanction of the Renfrew Park officials to play on the big field Sunday.

Having ace moundsmen for both teams, and two staffs of fiery fielders, these clubs swing into action once more in what should prove to be their usual bitter struggle.

Russel "Rusty" Wynn is reported to be taking over the twirling duties for the Liberals, while the brilliant junior bus hurler, Walter Johnson, will challenge Wynn in just another pitching duel.

GOLF CHAMPION DEFENDS TITLE

PINE RIDGE GOLF COURSE, WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—Advanced from the semi-finals by a narrow 19th hole victory Friday over Ontario's junior champion, Isobel Pepall, Toronto, Margery Kirkham, of Montreal, Friday night was prepared to defend her Canadian women's open golf championship against Ada Mackenzie, Toronto, in the 36-hole final over this intricate course today.

Miss Mackenzie, who will stay here another week to defend her Canadian close title at St. Charles Country Club, played safe and steady golf against a high east wind Friday to vanquish Mrs. R. K. Beairsto, Manitoba champion, 5 and 4. She carded a fine 41 for the first nine and made the turn five up.

By CHARLES TODD

Elliot vs. Hamilton
Smith vs. Trudel.
McCallum vs. Facey
Floyd vs. Willard
McKee vs. Walker.
Todd vs. McLennan.
The men's doubles:
Trudel - McLennan vs. Elliot-Hamilton
Todd-Willard have bye

The annual track meet will start with the field events to be held at the Vic Campus, Friday, September 22. The track events will be held Friday, September 29, at the South Side Athletic park.

The following field events will be held next Friday:

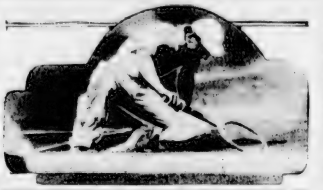
Vic's first rugby meeting was a great success. Mr. Richards will coach the Seniors while Mr. Poole will put the Juniors through their paces. Mr. Scarborough, who coached the senior squad to the city championship last year has retired from coaching for this year. We hope to see him in action again next year.

Percy Page coached the McDougall senior girls to victory last year and not Babe Belanger as previously stated. Mr. Page also piloted the boys' senior team to the city championship.

Down--Not Out!

Once upon a time tennis was a somewhat mild game, played without excessive expenditure of energy or loss of dignity. Now, however, the game has progressed to a point where acrobatics play a prominent part. The picture below, made during the national championship matches at Forest Hills, N.Y., shows Fred Perry of England, going down to return a ball. Perry defeated Crawford 6-3, 11-13, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1. It is the first time in 30 years that England has held the U.S. Tennis Championship and the second time in history that two outsiders have been in the finals without United States representation.



PLAYERS SAY CRONIN JUST ONE OF GANG

Straw Hats Shattered As Team Makes Merry On Straight Wins

EDITOR'S NOTE: How the Senators have caught the will to win from Joe Cronin is told in this, the fifth of a series of six articles on the Washington boy manager.

By RICHARD HOLLANDER

Copyright, 1933

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16. — The Washington Senators had just finished winning their twelfth straight game on the last invasion of the west. They were talking it over in the railway station at St. Louis.

They were as jubilant as kids at a picnic. Heinie Manush, slugging outfielder, stood at one end of the station concourse, swinging a cane like a baseball bat. Joe Cronin, who had been in serious conversation with Owner Clark Griffith, suddenly leaped from his seat.

"Hey, Heinie," he yelled, "See if you can hit this."

He yanked off Infielder Johnnie Kerr's straw hat and spun it toward Manush. "Crash," went the cane against the hat. "Crunch," groaned the hat, crown flying in one direction, lining in another.

HOW THEY TAKE HIM

Managerial dignity? Rubbish!

To Joe Cronin he's one of the boys, just a fellow playing shortstop who has to make a few more decisions than the rest and who has to take a little more riding from the fans.

Which is why, after a little friction at the start of the season, the players worship him.

Manush, who once was a member of that great triumvirate in the Detroit outfield that included Ty Cobb and Harry Heilmann, swears that Cronin will be regarded as a greater baseball figure than the old Georgia Peach himself.

Jack Russell, slender pitching veteran whose relief work has been a great factor in the Nats' success, insists that any team in the league could be a strong threat—if it had Joe to play shortstop and be the fighting manager he is in Washington.

Cronin's theory is one of live and let live. He makes his quota of errors. He fails sometimes in the pinches at bat. Everybody does. These things he leaves to the individual to take care of.

He doesn't fret about petty things. He doesn't use the iron fist of his office except as a last resort.

Time was when the Washington team on the field was as quiet as a dead mouse. Only Joe himself, during those years when he was being chosen as the league's most valuable player, kept up the steady chatter that marks a peppy ball club.

Now, the Senators afield are a bedlam let loose. Everyone, even the sober, hard-working, tight-mouthed Ossie Bluege at third adds his share to the yipping.

Cronin is booed in every city on the circuit for his repeated arguments with umpires. On adverse decisions he leaps after the officials with that jittery little jog-step and starts his mighty chin wagging.

But he does it because it's his way to fight for every inch. The rest of the team feels the same way about it. Not long ago there was much talk of the belligerency of the Nats, of their ready-to-fight-any-time attitude. That was the Cronin influence. But it wasn't really as bad as that.

It's just that the team wants to win. Every man is what is known as a "winning ball player." They aren't good losers because they don't want to lose. They're that way because it's Cronin's way.

And its why the Nats have been able to come back time and again after suffering crushing defeats.

Next: Joe Cronin off the field.

TORONTO, Sept. 16. — Gordon (Cokie) Shields, one of Vancouver's leading all-round athletes, arrived in Toronto Friday, to attend either University of Toronto or St. Michaels College. Shields will decide shortly whether he will take his last year in the Arts course at the university or the college.

CUBS' HOPES REDUCED BY DOUBLE LOSS

Giants Increase Lead In National Loop Pennant Big Drive

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—New York Giants cut loose with both barrels Friday and brought the Cubs' pennant prospects fluttering down to earth as they won both games of a double-header, 5-1 and 4-0 to increase their lead in the National league race to [illegible] games.

The twin triumphs evened the series and gave the Giants a practically impregnable margin in the pennant battle. They still are a long way from clinching the flag on a mathematical basis, but with only 11 games to go for the Cubs and 14 for the Giants, Chicago's hopes were just about wiped out. They have one more double-header today, but even a double victory then would leave the Cubs [illegible] games behind.

TWIRLING RESPONSIBLE

Some of the superlative pitching for which they have been noted this season gave the Giants both games as a crowd of 25,000 looked on. Hal Schumacher outpitched a trio of Cub hurlers to turn in a six-hit performance for his season's 19th victory while the fine relief flinging of Herman Bell accounted for a two-hit shutout hung on the Cubs in the nightcap.

Summoned to the mound with two out in the third inning after Roy Parmelee's wildness had filled the bases and given Riggs Stephenson two balls, Bell persuaded Stevie to foul out, then retired 16 men in order before allowing one to reach first. Billy Herman led off the ninth with a single but couldn't advance as the next three batsmen went out. The shutout was the 23rd credited to the New York mound staff.

First Game:

Chicago	000 001 000	—	1	6	2

Second Game:

Chicago	000 000 000	—	0	2	0

Parmelee, Bell and Mancuso; Warneke and Hartnett.

RALLY TWICE

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16.—Staging five-run parades in both the third and fourth innings, the dangerous Boston Braves trounced Pittsburgh 10-1 Friday in the second game of their series.

The Braves collected five singles in the third, sending Smith to the showers. They pounded out five hits in the fourth off Dudley and Chagnon. The latter finished the game.

Jensen forced Pittsburgh's only run in the first. He was hit by a pitched ball and came home on singles by Lindstrom and Traynor. Brandt was a puzzle to the Pirates for the remaining eight innings.

TAKE SECOND GAME

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 16.—Brooklyn Dodgers batted around against Bill Hallahan and Bill Walker in the fourth inning Friday, scored six runs in that frame and defeated the Cardinals 9-2 in the second game of their series.

Van Lingle Mungo, Dodger hurler, gave up only six hits, three of them in the last inning, to score his 14th victory of the season.

Brooklyn	200 601 000	—	9	13	1
St. Louis	000 801 001	—	2	6	3

Mungo and Lopez; Hallahan, Walker, Johnson and J. Wilson.

COLUMBUS HAS EDGE IN SERIES

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 16.—Decided by a lone run in the last half of the ninth inning, Columbus Red Birds nosed out Minneapolis Millers 3-2 Friday night in the third game of the play-off for the American association pennant.

Paul Dean, Columbus pitching ace, held the Millers scoreless after they scored a run in the first and another in the second on home runs by Hauser and Norris. It was Hauser's 70th circuit clout of the season.

The victory gave the Red Birds a one-game edge in the series. They won the opening game Tuesday and the Millers took the second Wednesday. Today the teams go to Minneapolis to compete the seven-game battle, the winner to meet the International league champions in the little world series.

Lacrosse Teams Battle Saturday

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—Eastern Canadian lacrosse representatives in the Canadian lacrosse championship play for the Mann cup may be known Saturday night.

With no signs of contenders from Quebec or the Maritimes it was conceded the Ontario lacrosse association champions—either Hamilton Tigers or Mount Dennis—would make the trip westward in search of the trophy.

Hamilton last night took the first game of a three-game series from Mount Dennis, 14-5, and the second game will be played here Saturday night.

YOUTHS LOSE GREAT GAMES TO VETERANS

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 16.—The giant killing exploits of two American golfing youths came to an abrupt end on the [illegible] battleground at Kenwood Friday, leaving 41-year-old Max R. Marston of Philadelphia, to carry the fight of the "Old Guard" into the final 36 hole round today against George T. Dunlap Jr., 24 [illegible] New Yorker [illegible] the amateur [illegible] of the United States.

Max Marston

Marston [illegible] ten years ago [illegible] back [illegible] Jack M[illegible] [illegible] prep [illegible] competing in the [illegible] match [illegible] the first time. The score was [illegible] and five as Marston broke the youngster's [illegible] with a series [illegible].

HAS GOLFING MOOD

Dunlap [illegible] in a delightful golfing mood [illegible] could lift his [illegible] heights at critical moments, gathered a 4 and 3 decision over W. Lawson Little, Jr., 23-year-old San Franciscan, in the other 36-hole semi-final. Little, who knocked Canada's Sandy Somerville out of the picture Thursday, seldom was able to match his rival's shooting and went down in the afternoon under a shower of birdies.

Marston has been as far as the semi-finals only once since he beat Jess Sweetser in a famous 38-hole match for the title at Flossmoor, Chicago, in 1923. The Philadelphia veteran has not even qualified for the match play since 19[illegible].

Dunlap failed to qualify last year after being the sensation of the Walker Cup matches with England.

After close and hard fought morning rounds, there was not much doubt about the outcome of either match this afternoon after the weather finally cleared after nearly two days of downpour.

FIGHTS BRAVELY

Little fought hard but [illegible] proved too erratic. He lost the first three holes before he pulled himself together sufficiently to square the match and take the lead [illegible] on the incoming nine. He was one down at lunch time, due to Dunlap's birdie on the 18th, but that was just a sample of what the New Yorker had in store for his rival.

Dunlap took four of the first six holes at the outset of the afternoon round. The slim, sandy-haired New Yorker fired three successive birdies with scores of 3-2-4 on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th holes. On all three of these holes George was so accurate that his approaches or tee shots that he left himself putts of only five to ten feet to get down for wins.

SPOTS LITTLE BIRDIES

Still five up after the [illegible] Dunlap could afford to spot Little a brace of birdies in succession, on the next two holes, and still win with something to spare. When Little messed up the 32nd, going into a trap with his second, sending his next shot clear over the green into the mud and barely getting back, the end was in sight. This made Dunlap dormie four and the match was over when they halved the 33rd.

Marston was only two up on Munger in the morning round, a margin he gained on the 16th and 18th. He took the 19th at the outset of the afternoon round but then began a series of setbacks that repulsed the young Texan's determined efforts to come back.

Munger outplayed Marston on three straight holes—the 21st, 22nd and 23rd—but stymies cost him two chances to win and another opportunity to get a half.

On the 23rd, a short hole, he placed his tee shot only three feet from the cup. It looked like a sure deuce, but Marston's putt laid him a stymie that he couldn't hurdle.

Instead of being only one down as he might have been with better breaks, Munger was four down. He cut down the margin with a [illegible] on the 25th, but Marston [illegible] door with a series of fine [illegible] plus another "dead" stymie.

French Boxer Beats Belgian

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Marcel Thil of France, recognized by some organizations as the middleweight [illegible] champion of the world, Friday [illegible] outpointed Jack Etienne, Belgian titleholder, in a [illegible] Both fighters weighed slightly under [illegible].

United States promoters have been angling for some time for a [illegible] between Marcel Thil and Tough [illegible] Brouillard, the St. Eugene, [illegible] boy who has New York state recognition as world's middleweight champion.

YOUNG CRICKET ACES PLAY VETS

[illegible] (England) county [illegible] team has again won the [illegible] championship. Its [illegible] attributed [illegible] taken in coaching the [illegible] county and enticing [illegible] after premier county [illegible].

[illegible] cricket league has [illegible] ten years taken a leaf from this book of experience and concentrated on the youth of [illegible] equipment and [illegible] and arranging games schedules.

On Sunday at the Golf Links [illegible] at 1.30 p.m. a [illegible] under [illegible] their [illegible] seniors over that age.

HERE, YOU DO IT! YOU SET THIS JOB UP!
WHY - UH - DONT GIT SORE! I WAS JUST OFFERIN' A LITTLE SUGGESTION, IS ALL — TRYIN' TO BE HELPFUL.
THAT'S WHUT SHOULD BE TOLD TO TH' GUYS WHO COULD RUN TH' COUNTRY BETTER THAN TH' ONES WHO ARE RUNNIN' IT! TH' GUY WHO AINT GOT TH' JOB KIN ALWAYS RUN IT TH' BEST. WHY IS THAT?
WHY? BECAUSE HE AINT GOT IT, IS WHY! IF HE HAD IT, THEN TH' OTHER GUYS COULD RUN IT TH' BEST.

ROWAN TO PROBE DEATHS OF DUCKS

Dr. William Rowan, noted University of Alberta naturalist, will visit Stobart Lake, south of Calgary, Sunday, to investigate the deaths of thousands of ducks. Leeches, clinging to nostrils and throats of the birds, are believed to have caused the deaths, but Dr. Rowan will make a complete inquiry.

The duck hunting season, underway yesterday, found hunters ignoring the once-famous hunting ground at Stobart Lake, which has been flooded by water from irrigation ditches, raising the level of the lake and spreading the leeches over a larger territory as an effort to relieve the situation.

FOR THE LOVE OF EVE

By LUCY WALLING

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADER, construction engineer. Dick wants Eve to stop working but she refuses.

Unknown to Dick, Eve plays the stock market on borrowed money. ARLENE SMITH, stenographer at Bixby's, buys stock on Eve's advice but loses all her money. SAM HOLBRIDGE, an advertising man employed by another store, is infatuated with Arlene.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is responsible for several mistakes at the office for which Eve is blamed.

When the building Dick has been working on is completed his employers tell him they will have no more work for him for some time. Eve is ungracious about this enforced idleness and they have frequent disagreements.

In September Dick leaves Lake City for a new job that will not be finished for at least a year. Eve refuses to give up her work to go with him. A fortune teller warns Eve against a dark man and she thinks of THERON REECE who has been forcing attentions on her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVI

Miss Gordon, the coat buyer, was there before her, vigorously cleansing her face with soap and water. Eve felt guilty, remembering the costly error in the advertisement of the spring coat sale.

But Sadie Gordon greeted her cheerfully. "Don't tell me one of you pampered office girls has had to work overtime!" she scoffed amiably. "I thought that never happened to anyone except us slaves behind the counters."

"It happens about four times a week to the girls in our office," Eve returned. "What do you mean pampered? That word isn't in the dictionary of a department store executive."

"Isn't that the truth!" agreed the other. "It's hard work, all right, but I like it just the same. Maybe that's because it's all I know. When I was 14 I was a stock girl at Rosenblum's. And I've been through the whole works—wrapper, errand girl, saleswoman, assistant buyer and now—after 20 years—a buyer. My first salary was $2.50 a week. It wasn't easy in those days. I was the oldest of eight children and all I ever got from my pay envelope was carfare. I carried my lunch from home, done up in a newspaper. A sandwich and homemade cookies, maybe, and an apple. Likely as not we'd have nothing but potato soup for supper. But it was a good potato soup! Plenty of milk in it and tiny egg dumplings.

"My mother was wonderful. I hate to think how hard she worked for us. My father worked hard, too, but always for small wages. He never got ahead—never had a business of his own. That was a great disappointment to my mother. But he didn't care about running a business. All the time he could have to himself he would play on his violin.

"He was a tailor and my mother made him teach his trade to my three brothers. They had her business head and they made good. Started a little shop in a rickety old building on a side street. Now they own Gordon's on the avenue—Gordon's tweeds, you know. They could outfit the Prince of Wales himself."

"Gordon's? But I thought—I've heard—" Eve began, then broke off in embarrassment.

"That Gordon's is owned by the Koveleski brothers?" Sadie finished the sentence for Eve matter-of-factly. "Well, it is. Abe and Sol and Ben. My name is Koveleski too but my mother thought we should have an American name in business."

"It's funny about names," Miss Gordon went on. "Our old country name wasn't good enough for a first class clothing store or for Bixby's coat buyer but it was just right for Abe's Lina when she turned out to be a real violinist."

"Lina—Lina Koveleski?" Eve repeated in amazement. "Not—not THE Koveleski, the famous girl violinist?"

"Sure," returned Sadie Gordon calmly. "Why not? She could carry a tune before she could walk and she was playing in public at four. She can make a violin speak—our Lina can! And she's a good girl, always thinking up some little surprise for her mother and father. I used to think it was foolish—the money Abe paid out for lessons for that child. But he always said she would make good and she has. But here I go, bragging about Lina, and your husband waiting down at the side door to take you to dinner."

At this mention of Dick doubt and loneliness again overwhelmed Eve. "He isn't waiting tonight," she sighed. "He left yesterday for the Adirondacks. He's on a new job there," she went on, encouraged by Sadie Gordon's unexpected friendliness. "He'll be gone for a year—longer, perhaps. He's superintending a big construction job—some hospital buildings."

"You'll be leaving us before long then."

The certainty in Miss Gordon's voice irritated Eve. "Oh, no! I'm not leaving," she returned spiritedly. "I'll go on with my work here. We're modern—my husband and I. We started our marriage on a 50-50 basis. It has always seemed to me that a woman's career is just as important as a man's."

"Sounds grand, dearie, but the arrangement doesn't always work out as you expected. If I were you I'd chuck this job and follow that handsome husband to the wilds before it's too late—even if I had to live in a tent and eat canned salmon and baked beans three times a day. It isn't safe to be so careless with a husband these days! Too many lady pirates cruising about the sea of matrimony.

"This career business is all right while you're young and ambitious but by the time you're my age you'll probably learn nothing is so important in a woman's life as a home, a husband and two or three youngsters to work and plan for. I can see that now—when it's too late! Maybe it'll be too late when you see it. Believe me, dearie, by the time a woman is 50 it isn't a big name for herself or a big salary that seems important—not when she's facing a lonely old age."

"Tell you what," the brisk, kindly woman went on, as they descended long flights of stairs to the street (the elevators having stopped for the day). "why not come home with me to dinner if you haven't any special plans for the evening? I'll get something at the delicatessen at the corner and make some of that potato soup I was telling you about. It would be a real kindness to me. It never seems worth while to cook a hot meal for myself and yet I do get tired of restaurant food."

Eve accepted the invitation gladly. They stopped at the delicatessen shop and while Miss Gordon bought half a roast chicken, green for salad, a small cheese cake and [illegible] Eve selected a box of candy as her contribution to the little feast.

Miss Gordon lived in a large apartment house [illegible] off the avenue. The building, convenient to her work, was in a neighborhood no longer considered fashionable. This factor which seemed important to Eve apparently gave Miss Gordon no concern.

"I've lived here for 15 years," she said as though in answer to Eve's unspoken thought. "I could afford a better place now, of course, but I'm used to this and it seems too much bother to move. I know what you're thinking—that if you were in my place you'd call a second-hand man, get rid of this ugly furniture and take one of those swanky new apartments on the Heights where everything is done merely by turning an electric switch. Well—I think I like this better."

Eve, setting the table and preparing the salad while her hostess peeled potatoes and put them on to boil, found herself telling Sadie Gordon about Mrs. Brooks' old house with its great trees and attractive garden and how Dick had turned its dinginess into beauty with hammer, nails and a paint brush.

"I'd hate dreadfully to leave now," she admitted, "though the price [illegible] first."

"The potato [illegible] delicious," she assured her hostess when they were seated at the cheerful table.

Miss Gordon [illegible] praise and gave her detailed directions for making the soup. "You can surprise your husband with it some evening," she [illegible].

"Oh, I don't have much time for cooking," Eve confessed. "Dick gets home [illegible] when he was here. He [illegible] is ready by the time I reached home. Now [illegible] I suppose I'll [illegible] the time."

"[illegible] dearie. It looks to me as though you're [illegible] wonder for a husband. Not many men would [illegible] and cook dinner! I'd be [illegible] and let some other girl [illegible] away from you. Why don't you tell Earle Barnes you've got a [illegible] as cook in an Adirondacks construction camp?"

Eve laughed uneasily and changed the subject, but when she returned home that [illegible] apartment seemed unutterably lonely [illegible] of its beauty and comfort. She remembered Miss Gordon's [illegible]. Not that she intended to leave [illegible] the [illegible] would be leave Bixby's [illegible] goal she had sought for [illegible].

But what if this temporary separation should lead to a permanent parting from Dick? He had gone away so cheerfully [illegible]. Had he really [illegible] glad to go?

MAN ARRESTED AFTER CRASH

Arraigned in police court Saturday morning on a charge of reckless and negligent driving, Ernest Hosechelt pleaded not guilty and Magistrate Col. George B. McLeod set the trial for next Tuesday.

One man is under arrest and a woman is in the Royal Alexandra hospital as the result of a rear end collision between two cars near the intersection of Portage and Kingsway avenues at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Reports of the traffic squad disclose that Mrs. J. Boulat, 10221 95 street, suffered a severe blow on the back of the head when the car in which she was riding with her husband was struck from the rear by a machine driven by Ernest Hosechelt, who was taken into custody on a charge of reckless and negligent driving.

Mrs. Boulat was detained in the hospital overnight, although her condition is not believed to be serious. She was riding in the rear seat of the car when the back end of the machine was crumpled in by the impact.

Hosechelt was held overnight.

NEW FIRM WILL OPEN BRANCH

Opening of an Edmonton branch of Radiators Ltd. of Calgary was announced on Saturday by C. G. Nelson, president and managing director of the company, who is a city visitor. Headquarters of the branch will be established at 10223 102 street.

The local branch will open its doors within the next few days and will carry a full and complete line of stock.

Radiators Ltd. handle the line manufactured by Harrison, Long, McCord, which includes radiator equipment of trucks, tractors and combines. Original equipment and spare parts of these machines are distributed, thus enabling consumers to eliminate use of substitute parts belonging to some other radiator system.

The Harrison, Long, McCord system is extensively used in tractors, trucks and combines and this city has been a missing link in a chain of servicing points across the continent.

With the opening of the local branch the chain will be complete [illegible] the extension of manufacturers parts. Servicing will be done with the most modern and complete tools and materials and equipment up to manufacturers standards.

Owing to the wide variation in climate in the west and the rough [illegible] receive the radiator [illegible] in the west is [illegible].

Cracksmen Secure Only Small Haul

A [illegible] radio and $6 in cash was the "take" of cracksmen operating under cover of darkness in the city [illegible] according to overnight crime reports at police headquarters. Prying open the rear door, burglars gained entrance into the Norwood foundry, 9111 111 avenue, from where the radio was stolen.

The premises of W. W. Sales were entered some time early Saturday morning, supposedly by a pass-key. The cash till was rifled of $6 in cash. Police are checking up on both robberies.

By GLADYS GLAD
"America's Most Famous Beauty"

Dear Miss Glad: I've just received a bottle of toilet water as a gift, and don't just know what one uses it for. I've had perfume, of course, but this is different, I know. Can you tell me just what the difference is between toilet water and perfume?

ADELE.

Gladys Glad

Toilet water and perfume differ both in their composition and in their manner of usage. Perfume is generally a far more concentrated mixture than toilet water. It is applied lightly and skillfully to the body, generally on the areas behind the ears, on the neck and on the brows, so that only a faint, subtle fragrance results. The toilet water is used principally as an adjunct of the bath. A small quantity is added directly to the bath water and delicately perfumes the skin. Or else the entire body is sprayed with the toilet water immediately after the bath, with a fine [illegible].

Dear Miss Glad: I want to thank you first of all for the excellent results I've achieved through your New Figure booklet. My bust is beginning to assume normal proportions [illegible] and I've lost heaps from my [illegible] and thighs. As a matter of fact I've lost 33 pounds in all. However, you once said that you do not approve of the use of ice on the face. Can you tell me why?

THERESA.

Ice is undoubtedly astringent in its action on the skin. But in my opinion the use of ice is far too drastic a measure for the tender facial skin. In the first place, the frequent use of ice is drying to the skin and may cause the appearance of tiny fine lines. Again, the shock of the sudden extreme cold may cause unsightly little broken capillaries. And in addition, the constant intense cold may even induce a condition of facial neuralgia. If you've been using ice, I'd suggest that you substitute a mild astringent for it. A good astringent to close the pores and tone up the skin just as effectively as the ice, but will not have any of its detrimental effects.

"Dear Miss Glad: I've had simply excellent results from that 'New Figure' booklet of yours, having lost over 38 pounds. However, my bust, though smaller now, has always been out of proportion with the rest of my body. I've been wondering, therefore, if a rubber brassiere would help me to reduce it. Can you tell me?"

BERTHA.

When used alone for reducing purposes, a rubber brassiere would probably not have much effect on your bust measurement. But I think that a rubber brassiere would help to reduce your bust if you wear it while you are vigorously exercising the upper portion of your body. I'd advise you to wear a cotton or close-knit vest beneath the garment to absorb the perspiration. For if you wear it next to your skin it is liable to irritate and cause the formation of a rash. Wash the brassiere daily in warm water to which a bit of borax has been added. Then pat it dry, and powder it. This procedure will help to keep the garment clean and fresh.

The Fate of Bim Gump

—By Smith

HE'S STILL ASLEEP- IT DOESN'T SEEM LIKE HE'S EVER GOING TO WAKE UP- BUT HE'S BREATHING YET-
OH, GRANDPA, DO YOU THINK HE'LL LIVE? HE SEEMS LIKE SUCH A NICE MAN-
MIGHTY QUEER-CHILD- MIGHTY QUEER FINDIN' A FINE LOOKIN' FELLA LIKE THAT FLOATIN' DOWN THE RIVER, OUT OF HIS HEAD AND ALL- BUT IF KINDNESS AND CARE'LL HELP ANY- I RECKON WE CAN BRING HIM THROUGH YET-
HERE, STRANGER- TRY A SPOONFULL OF THIS- IF WE COULD JUST GET HIM TO TAKE SOME OF THIS MEDICINE IT MIGHT BRING HIM TO- AND THEN HE COULD TELL US WHO HE IS-
HOW COLD HIS HANDS ARE- I WONDER IF HE'D EAT A LITTLE SOUP IF I MAKE SOME FOR HIM-
STRANGE- QUEER- LOOKS LIKE A FINE SORT TOO- BUT WHAT COULD HAVE HAPPENED TO HIM- WHERE DOES HE COME FROM? OUT OF HIS HEAD SORT OF-

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN — Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The little pet pup seemed to know that it was putting on a show. Each time it leaped through Duncy's hoop it wagged its tail a bit.

Then ol' Pol Parrot shouted, "Try to make the dog stand way up high. Then, also tell it to sit down and it will promptly sit."

"I know it will! I trained the pup. Why, look! Right now it's sitting up." Then Goldy added, "My, that's cute. Here puppy, come to me!

"I want to snuggle you real tight. Don't worry! You will be all right." The pup then crawled into her lap as comfy as could be.

"Aw," Scouty cried, "it's all tired out! You've played with it too much, no doubt. Let's let it sleep and all find something else that we can do."

"That's fair enough," said Goldy. "I will sing a little lullaby. The rest of you can have your fun. I'll shortly follow you."

Then Windy asked, "Why go away? Right here's a real nice place to stay. There's Tubby, the old basket cat. We'll have some fun with it."

"Don't anybody pull its tail. 'Twould only make it loudly wail. Why, I have heard that teasing makes a nice cat have a fit."

Then to the basket Windy went, where quite a little while was spent in coaxing the old pussy cat to jump out to the ground.

"We want to see the tricks you know," said Dotty. "Aw, come on, you're slow. There's no need to be frightened. Don't just sit and look around."

At last the pokey cat jumped out. Then all the bunch heard Duncy shout. "For goodness sakes, what a surprise! Four kittens I can see.

"I'll bet they love to jump and run. Here's where we have a lot of fun. I'd like to pet all four of them. They're cute as they can be."

NEED CREDIT FOR BUYING COMMODITIES

Deal Closed When Bargaining on Interest Rate Agreed

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the United States reconstruction finance corporation, conferred with officials of the Amtorg trading corporation Friday to complete plans for a credit of between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000 to the Soviet agency, the Herald-Tribune says.

The federal funds would be used by the Soviets to purchase cotton, copper, aluminum and other commodities.

The reconstruction corporation, it was learned, stands ready to advance the funds and the Amtorg officials were reported ready to close the deal as soon as an agreement can be reached on the interest rate, maturity and the amount of purchase price paid down.

Jones was in conference with Peter A. Bogdanov, chairman of the Russian trade company, and A. Rosenhei, president.

The officials of Amtorg, it was indicated, are trying to drive a hard bargain on the terms of the loan. The recent loan of approximately $4,500,000 for the purchase of cotton bore interest at five per cent, payable in one year.

Negotiations for the larger credit have been in progress for several weeks and the Amtorg officials have frequently visited Washington. The visit to New York of Jones was interpreted as indicating negotiations were near a successful end.

EDMONTON STOCKYARDS, Sept. 16—Weekly report from Edmonton stockyards for week ending Sept. 16:—

Receipts—	Cattle	Calves	Hogs	Sheep
Saturday	33	1	167	246

Another week of fairly light receipts has helped very materially in salesmen making a clean-up of all their offerings. Trading as a whole has been none too active, due principally to the indifferent quality of the offerings. Values generally during this past week have shown a weaker tendency, particularly plain, heavy kinds, which throughout the week were hard to move. Prices on the better grades of handyweights remain about steady and unchanged. The following were the ruling prices during the week:

Good to choice lightweights from $3 to $3.50, with fair to medium from $2.25 to $3.75. The general run of good butcher steers sold at $2.50 to $3, common to medium kinds $1.50 to $2.25. Good butcher heifers $2.50 to $2.75, common to medium $1.25 to $2.25. Good cows $1.50 to $1.75. Common to medium 75c to $1.25. Canners and cutters 50c to 75c. Bulls, $1 to $1.25.

There was somewhat more action noticeable on the stocker market and any offerings which showed quality were quite readily cleared. Prices generally were steady, with the better grades of stockers going from $1.50 to $2. Plain kinds from $1 to $1.25. Stocker cows $1 to $1.25.

The calf market throughout the week showed signs of firmness, good to choice kinds selling generally at $3.50 to $4. Common to medium $2 to $3.

The hog market was considerably lower and showing an unsettled tone. At the close of the week both carloads and trucked-in bacons were selling at $5.90, selects bringing a premium of 50c per cwt. and butchers discounted 50c per cwt. Cuts on off-grade hogs remain unchanged, and are as follows: Heavies discounted $1.25 per cwt., extra heavies $2. No. 1 sows $2.25, No. 2 sows $3. Stags optional and stags with tusks no value.

All offerings of good lambs have been cleaned up readily under fairly brisk trading. Prices on the whole showed a firm tone. The general run of good to choice lambs sold at $3.50 to $4, with plain to medium at $2 to $3. Yearlings $1.50 to $2.50, add exceptionally choice, up to $3 and ewes $1 to $2.

STOCKS TAKE NEW COURAGE AT NEW YORK

By VICTOR EUBANK
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Stocks took fresh courage today and rallied substantially under the leadership of mining issues. While all of the leaders did not recover their rather sharp losses of the preceding session, there were many gains of 1 to 3 or more points. Trading activity was at its best in the last half-hour. Transfers approximated 1,150,000 shares.

The United States treasury raised the price of gold to $30.49 an ounce, a new high, and the mininm equities immediately swung upward under brisk bidding. The rally was considered somewhat impressive in the face of indifferent commodity price movements and further rumors concerning France's adherence to the gold standard.

Homestake Mining shares jumped 28 points to a new high at 351. U.S. Smelting also reached a new peak at 100, and gains of 2 to 5 or more were recorded by American Smelting, Howe Sound, Cerro de Pasco, Alaska Juneau and Noranda. International Silver was up 6, and advances of 2 to around 4 were held by National Distillers, U.S. Industrial Alcohol, American Commercial Alcohol, Case, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Great Western Sugar, Johns-Manville, American Telephone, Union Pacific and Delaware & Hudson. There were numerous gains of fractions to a point or more.

TRADING DRAGS ON MINE MART

TORONTO, Sept. 16—Trading dragged but prices were on the way up in today's short session of the Standard Mining Exchange. The market was featured by strength of the senior gold group, McIntyre particularly showing buoyancy. It sold up to $42, a new all-time high market, and closed at the top.

In the big gold producers, Dome had the best advance, climbing $1.60 to 35.60. Lake Shore was up 1.25 to 47.25. Pioneer up 1.50 to $13. Teck gained 15 to 6.75 and Wright-Hargreaves up 25 at 7.95.

I nthe secondard gold group Ventures, San Antonio, Siscoe and Howey ruled steady which Sylvanite lost 3, and Reno gained 5 and Macassa 2. Central Patricia was about steady around 55.

Nickel was slow but stronger, closing up 75 cents at 22.25 and Noranda improved a little to 35.95. Base Metals Corporation was unchanged, Sherritt 3 cents higher and Hudson Bay down 50 cents for an odd lot. Eldorado gained 14 to 4.40 and Mining Corporation and Nipissing a few cents up in the silvers.

WHEAT SCORES GAIN OF MORE THAN ONE CENT

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—Wheat prices rose buoyantly in the late session today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange under the impetus of purchasing by both eastern and western buyers to close 1⅜ to 1⅝ cents above the previous finish.

Optimism spread to all grains, as fears of low grade wheat on account of heavy rains over the prairies turned western operators to the buying side, and further inflation talk created bullish feeling in the east.

After hanging around the previous closing levels for most of the early session, values turned upward during the last hour of the abbreviated session. Export business estimated between 500,000 and 750,000 bushels accounted for early steadiness.

Later, however, gains of about 1½ cents were marked up as local traders gave the market good support, and fairly heavy purchasing for eastern account entered the pit.

Chicago prices had a similar trend to Winnipeg but Liverpool, reflecting heavy arrivals of wheat and outside liquidation, was weak at the close, finishing ¾-⅞d lower.

City Temple Celebrates

SPIRITUALIST GATHERING ON SUNDAY NEXT

All Present and Prospective Members Are Invited to Attend

This week-end will see the celebrating of the 17th year of beginning of Spiritualism, as it now is in the city of Edmonton.

Prior to the formation of a congregation or membership, the good work had been carried on by individuals in their homes. Some of these pioneers of the City Temple were at the inception of Spiritualism here, pioneers in some of the older countries.

In those days the Spiritualistic Thought was not understood by those of other thoughts, and greatly misunderstood by great numbers of its followers, the harm done in those early days has not yet been totally obliterated, in many minds.

The persecution and misunderstanding, has perhaps been a blessing, in the fact that a phenomenal growth in which many of the essentials would have been lost was prevented.

Much of the advancement work has been done by many men who were prominent in other walks of life, and whose names are household words, but the work on which the Movement has been built upon has been done by many whose names are never heard, yet whose actions have counted for so much, self denial and service to mankind and the angel world has been their only incentive, yet the results have been far reaching, breaking down superstition and building up knowledge.

So not only will the pioneers in Edmonton be thought of this week-end, but also those in all parts of the world, who have done so much. Calling to mind just a few such as the Fox Sisters, Jackson Davis, F. W. Myers, D. D. Hume, Anna Kingsford, W. Crookes, T. Tayler, W. T. Stead, Schlatter, E. Jaladino, A. Aksakof, A. J. Balfour, W. F. Barrett, R. H. Hutton, H. Sidgwick and the Wallises.

Spiritualists today owe a great debt to the great list of early workers that could be compiled.

In Edmonton the actual starting of the movement commenced in 1914 when an advertisement asked all interested to meet the advertiser.

A home circle was formed, and several others branched from that one, until today the actual number of circles being conducted is unknown, although it has been computed about forty and two recognized churches are in operation from that small beginning.

A very cordial welcome is extended to all to attend on Sunday evening, and again on Friday night.

Tonight a pleasant time is being looked forward to, when a number of past members of the City Temple will spend a short time opening up past memories with present members. All past members please take this as an invitation.

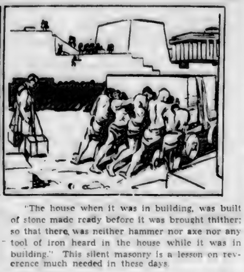
ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Solomon

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell
And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—1 Kings, chapters 5 to 8.

King David wished to build the temple but was not permitted because he was a man of war. This did not keep him from gathering materials in preparation for the work under Solomon, a man of peace. The timber was secured from Hiram, King of Tyre, who sent cedars of Lebanon for the temple.



"The house when it was in building, was built of stone made ready before it was brought thither; so that there was neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron heard in the house while it was in building." This silent masonry is a lesson on reverence much needed in these days.

The temple was completed after seven and a half years' work by an army of over 183,000 workmen. Enriched with precious materials and overlaid with gold it was the most magnificent building of the ancient world, the masterpiece of "Solomon in all his glory."

The ark of the covenant symbolized God's presence in the temple. In his great dedicatory prayer Solomon expressed the mystery of the temple: "Behold the heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house that I have builded"!

GOLDEN TEXT—Psalm 100:4.

CONGREGATION IN TRIBUTE TO DR. OSBORN

Clerical Gown Presented to New Minister of First Church

Evidence of the growing esteem in which the congregation of First Presbyterian Church hold their minister, Dr. Andrew R. Osborn, was manifest Friday evening when he was presented with a clerical gown, symbolizing his office in the church since being admitted to the Presbyterian Church of Canada at the last meeting of the General Assembly.

Glowing tribute was paid to Dr. Osborn by Thomas Fyfe, prominent church worker, who stated that since he had taken over the leadership of the church about one year ago, progress within the church had been tremendous. He praised his spiritual leadership and character in this regard. The solid foundation established by the late Dr. D. G. McQueen also was mentioned as partly responsible for the recent expansion in the church.

Following these remarks, Mrs. Harold Deeton, past president of the Central branch of the Ladies' Aid who were responsible for getting the gown, made the presentation.

Thanking the congregation for the honor conferred upon him, Dr. Osborn then told of his experiences while in the Old Country purchasing the robes, after receiving a message from Hon. J. E. Lymburn, chairman of the board of governors, stating that the ladies of the church desired making the gift and for him to make the purchase while on his vacation. Originally it was to be made in London but as Edinburgh was recognized as the headquarters for outfitting dignitaries of the Presbyterian church, the purchase was made there.

Mrs. M. J. McLeod, president of the Central Branch of the Ladies' Aid, was especially thanked by Dr. Osborn as it was mainly through her efforts that the gown was presented to Dr. Osborn.

The robes consist of a Geneva Pulpit Gown and Cassock of black silk material and beautifully tailored.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

At First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Edmonton and at all Christian Science churches tomorrow the subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Matter." The following is one of the Scriptural quotations contained in the Lesson-Sermon: "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Romans 12:1, 2). One of the correlative passages in Mary Baker Eddy is as follows: "In proportion as the belief disappears that life and intelligence are in or of matter, the immortal facts of being are seen, and their only idea or intelligence is in God."

The Sphinx has had its face "lifted," and now, for the first time in 3,600 years, the entire figure is visible above the sands.

KING SOLOMON

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(The International Uniform Lesson for September 17 is I Kings, Chapters 5 to 8, especially 8:1-11, the Golden Text being Psalm 100:4, "Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

Life holds many unfulfilled purposes and ideals for every aspiring soul. "David could not build an house unto the name of the Lord his God for the wars which were about him on every side." But nevertheless God took the wish for the deed, and said to David, "Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house unto my name, thou didst well, that it was in thine heart." And David was big enough that the frustration of his chief ambition did not embitter his soul. He might not be the builder, but he did not therefore despise the privilege of assembling materials in preparation for another to build into the temple of God.

Solomon might have disputed the strength of the house of David in conflict with the house of Saul, for there were still those who resented the change in dynasties. But Solomon revealed his wisdom in centering the people's interest, not in either of these rival houses, but in the house of God. He gave the nation a great positive objective, a worthy constructive program and welded rival interests in a great work whose underlying incentive was worship, not the glory of Solomon which might have been disputed but the glory of God which none could dispute.

BUILDING THE TEMPLE

It took 300,000 men 20 years to build one of the pyramids and more than five centuries to give Westminster Abbey its present form, but Solomon's temple, the most magnificent building of the ancient world, was built in seven and one-half years by an army of over 183,000 builders.

Cedars of Lebanon were brought from the realm of Hiram, King of Tyre, marble from Jerusalem, and gold and precious stones brought from the ends of the earth.

Both the material and the method of this ancient masonry are indicated in the scriptures thus: "And the house when it was in building, was built of stone made ready before it was brought thither: so that there was neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building." This is reverence for the house of God and the things of God which is the very soul of religion. "The Lord is in his holy temple: let all the earth keep silence before him." It is an element of religion we are in peril of losing in these days when noise and jazz would intrude even into our worship.

BRINGING UP THE ARK

The temple finished and furnished in all the glory of Solomon, the finishing touch was added by the bringing up of the sacred ark of the covenant which symbolized the presence of Jehovah. "And they brought up the ark of the Lord . . . And King Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel, that were assembled unto him, were with him before the ark, sacrificing sheep and oxen that could not be told nor numbered in multitude." Without the ark as the symbol of the divine presence the temple, with all its splendor, would have been coarse and poor indeed. The mystery and the glory of it all Solomon felt in his great dedicatory prayer. "Behold the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain thee, how much less this house that I have builded!" That mystery is only fully explained in Jesus Christ whose God filled body is the true temple of God, for he is the "greater than Solomon."

Pioneer Minister Preaches At Busby

BUSBY, Sept. 16.—Rev. Hougheson, of the United church, Lethbridge, pioneer minister of Alberta, preached to a large congregation in the United church here on Sunday last. Rev. Hougheson was the minister on the Busby church circuit 25 years ago when he was a young man. He visited from house to house when travel was only by trail and on horseback. On his visit last Sunday he was accompanied by his wife and two daughters.

THIS WILL SAVE ME FLYING
TO NORTH BUNION
MY CURIOSITY IS CHOKING ME! WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT?
JUST A BASEBALL FAN!
TWENTY YEARS!
FOR A MAN OF FEW WORDS, JUDGE, THAT'S A LONG SENTENCE!
A HAIR IN MY CHICKEN SOUP! HOW DO YOU ACCOUNT FOR THAT?
MAYBE IT CAME FROM THE ROOSTER'S COMB!

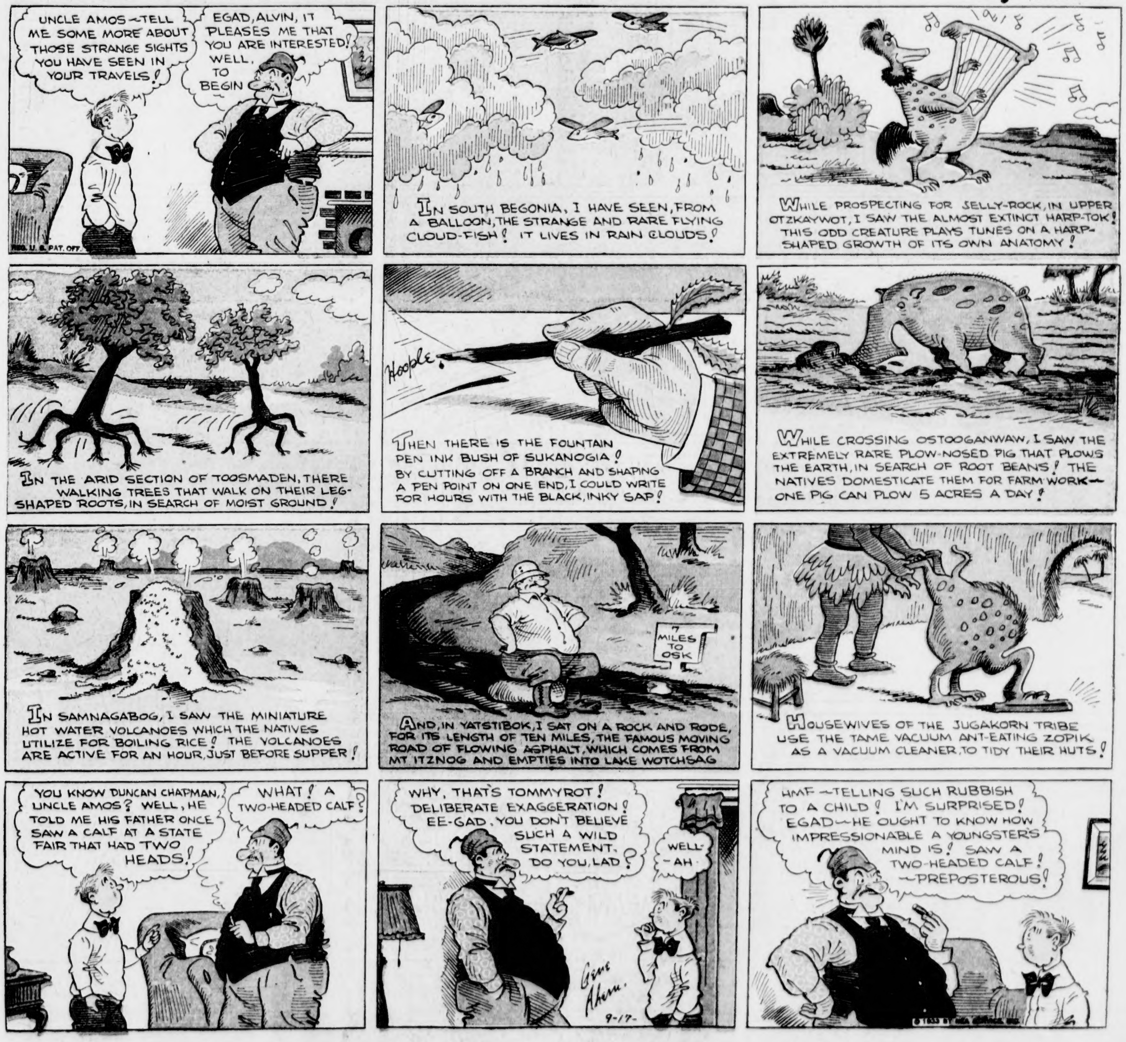
OUR BOARDING HOUSE

By Ahern



UNCLE AMOS—TELL ME SOME MORE ABOUT THOSE STRANGE SIGHTS YOU HAVE SEEN IN YOUR TRAVELS!
EGAD, ALVIN, IT PLEASES ME THAT YOU ARE INTERESTED! WELL, TO BEGIN—
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
IN SOUTH BEGONIA, I HAVE SEEN, FROM A BALLOON, THE STRANGE AND RARE FLYING CLOUD-FISH! IT LIVES IN RAIN CLOUDS!
WHILE PROSPECTING FOR SELLY-ROCK, IN UPPER OTZKAYWOT, I SAW THE ALMOST EXTINCT HARP-TOK! THIS ODD CREATURE PLAYS TUNES ON A HARP-SHAPED GROWTH OF ITS OWN ANATOMY!
IN THE ARID SECTION OF TOOSMADEN, THERE WALKING TREES THAT WALK ON THEIR LEG-SHAPED ROOTS, IN SEARCH OF MOIST GROUND!
Hoople
THEN THERE IS THE FOUNTAIN PEN INK BUSH OF SUKANOGIA! BY CUTTING OFF A BRANCH AND SHAPING A PEN POINT ON ONE END, I COULD WRITE FOR HOURS WITH THE BLACK, INKY SAP!
WHILE CROSSING OSTOOGANWAW, I SAW THE EXTREMELY RARE PLOW-NOSED PIG THAT PLOWS THE EARTH, IN SEARCH OF ROOT BEANS! THE NATIVES DOMESTICATE THEM FOR FARM WORK—ONE PIG CAN PLOW 5 ACRES A DAY!
IN SAMNAGABOG, I SAW THE MINIATURE HOT WATER VOLCANOES WHICH THE NATIVES UTILIZE FOR BOILING RICE! THE VOLCANOES ARE ACTIVE FOR AN HOUR, JUST BEFORE SUPPER!
7 MILES TO OSK
AND, IN YATSTIBOK, I SAT ON A ROCK AND RODE, FOR ITS LENGTH OF TEN MILES, THE FAMOUS MOVING ROAD OF FLOWING ASPHALT, WHICH COMES FROM MT ITZNOG AND EMPTIES INTO LAKE WOTCHSAG
HOUSEWIVES OF THE JUGAKORN TRIBE USE THE TAME VACUUM ANT-EATING ZOPIK AS A VACUUM CLEANER, TO TIDY THEIR HUTS!
YOU KNOW DUNCAN CHAPMAN, UNCLE AMOS? WELL, HE TOLD ME HIS FATHER ONCE SAW A CALF AT A STATE FAIR THAT HAD TWO HEADS!
WHAT! A TWO-HEADED CALF?
WHY, THAT'S TOMMYROT! DELIBERATE EXAGGERATION! EE-GAD, YOU DON'T BELIEVE SUCH A WILD STATEMENT, DO YOU, LAD?
WELL—AH
Gene Ahern 9-17-
HMF—TELLING SUCH RUBBISH TO A CHILD! I'M SURPRISED! EGAD—HE OUGHT TO KNOW HOW IMPRESSIONABLE A YOUNGSTER'S MIND IS! SAW A TWO-HEADED CALF!—PREPOSTEROUS!

TAG, YOU'VE BEEN A GOOD BOY ALL SUMMER—NEVER ARGUED ABOUT ANYTHING YOUR MOTHER TOLD YOU TO DO—ALWAYS DID EVERYTHING WITH A SMILE—
WHY, SURE, POP...GEE! I'M ALWAYS GLAD TO DO THINGS AROUND THE HOUSE.....YOU KNOW I AM, POP!
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
YES, I DO—SO HERE'S A NICE CHECK FOR YOU, TAG!
FOR ME ?
FIVE DOLLARS!! BOYOBOY OBOY!
HEY, FELLAS! LOOKIT WHAT MY POP GAVE ME —JUST LOOKIT!!
FEAST YOUR EYES ON THIS, WOULDYA! POP GAVE IT TO ME!
A CHECK! GEE...THAT'S TH' SAME AS MONEY, ISN'T IT ?
WOW! LET'S SEE IT, TAG! YOU LUCKY GUY, YOU !!

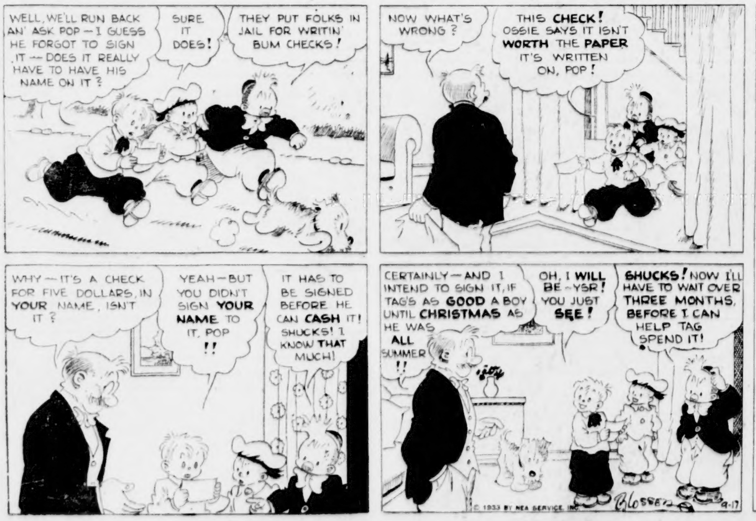
PAY TO THE ORDER OF Tagalong McGoosey $5.00
Five and xx/100 DOLLARS
YEP! FIVE DOLLARS!! AND I CAN DO ANYTHING WITH IT THAT I WANT — BUY JELLY BEANS, SODAS, GO TO TH' MOVIES — JUST ANYTHING!!
I HATE TO SPOIL YOUR FUN, TAG — BUT THAT CHECK IS A PHONEY —. YESSR — A PHONEY!



WELL, WE'LL RUN BACK AN' ASK POP — I GUESS HE FORGOT TO SIGN IT — DOES IT REALLY HAVE TO HAVE HIS NAME ON IT ?
SURE IT DOES!
THEY PUT FOLKS IN JAIL FOR WRITIN' BUM CHECKS!
NOW WHAT'S WRONG ?
WHY — IT'S A CHECK FOR FIVE DOLLARS, IN YOUR NAME, ISN'T IT ?
YEAH — BUT YOU DIDN'T SIGN YOUR NAME TO IT, POP !!
IT HAS TO BE SIGNED BEFORE HE CAN CASH IT! SHUCKS! I KNOW THAT MUCH!
CERTAINLY — AND I INTEND TO SIGN IT, IF TAG'S AS GOOD A BOY UNTIL CHRISTMAS AS HE WAS ALL SUMMER !!
OH, I WILL BE—YSR! YOU JUST SEE!
SHUCKS! NOW I'LL HAVE TO WAIT OVER THREE MONTHS, BEFORE I CAN HELP TAG SPEND IT!

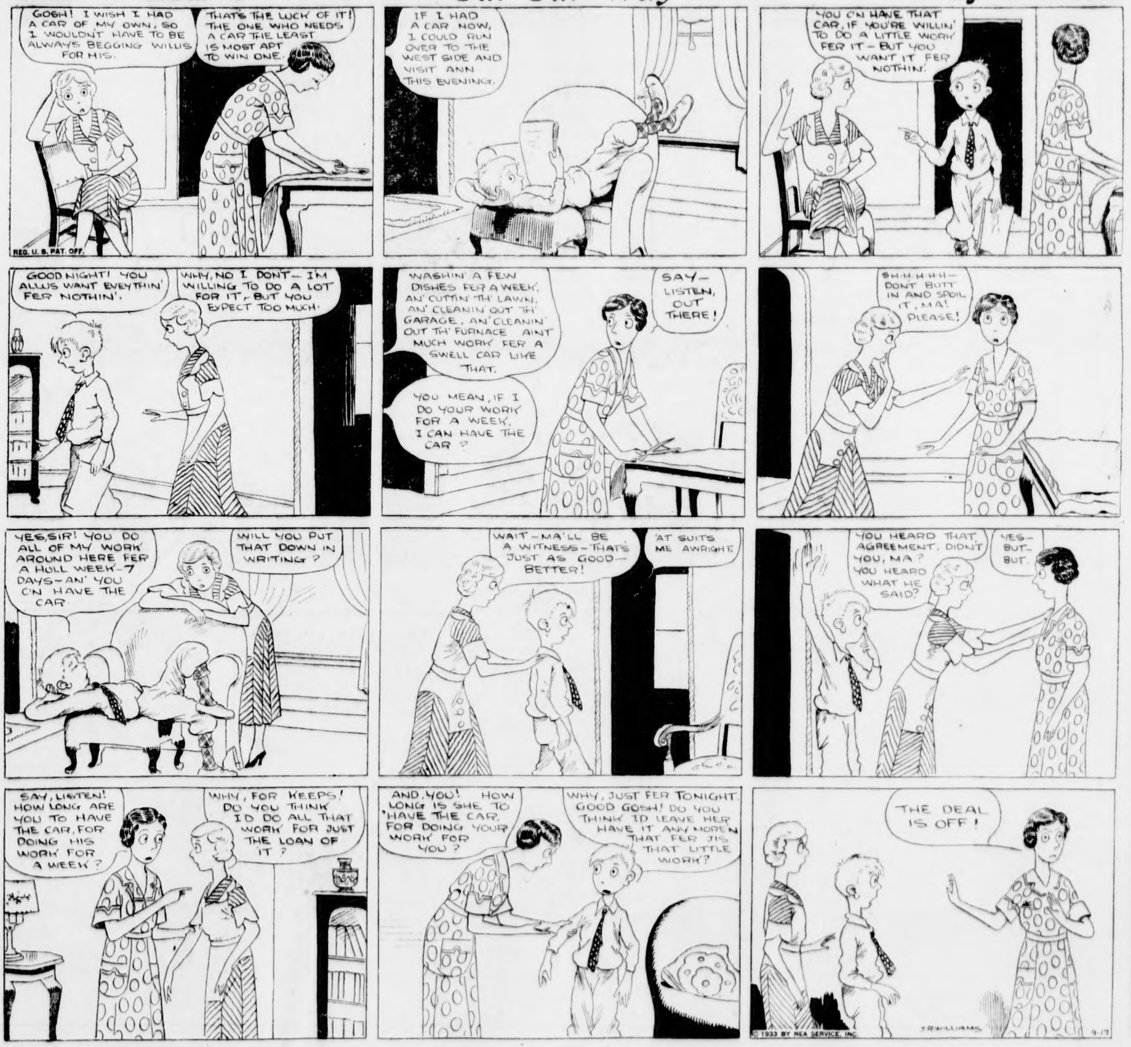
Out Our-Way

By Williams



GOSH! I WISH I HAD A CAR OF MY OWN, SO I WOULDN'T HAVE TO BE ALWAYS BEGGING WILLIS FOR HIS.
THAT'S THE LUCK OF IT! THE ONE WHO NEEDS A CAR THE LEAST IS MOST APT TO WIN ONE.
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
IF I HAD A CAR NOW, I COULD RUN OVER TO THE WEST SIDE AND VISIT ANN THIS EVENING.
YOU C'N HAVE THAT CAR, IF YOU'RE WILLIN' TO DO A LITTLE WORK FER IT – BUT YOU WANT IT FER NOTHIN'.
GOOD NIGHT! YOU ALLUS WANT EVEYTHIN' FER NOTHIN'.
WHY, NO I DON'T – I'M WILLING TO DO A LOT FOR IT, – BUT YOU EXPECT TOO MUCH.
WASHIN' A FEW DISHES FER A WEEK, AN' CUTTIN' TH' LAWN, AN' CLEANIN' OUT TH' GARAGE, AN' CLEANIN' OUT TH' FURNACE AINT MUCH WORK FER A SWELL CAR LIKE THAT.
SAY – LISTEN, OUT THERE!
YOU MEAN, IF I DO YOUR WORK FOR A WEEK, I CAN HAVE THE CAR?
SH-H-H-H-H – DON'T BUTT IN AND SPOIL IT, MA! PLEASE!
YES, SIR! YOU DO ALL OF MY WORK AROUND HERE FER A HULL WEEK – 7 DAYS – AN' YOU C'N HAVE THE CAR.
WILL YOU PUT THAT DOWN IN WRITING?
WAIT – MA'LL BE A WITNESS – THAT'S JUST AS GOOD – BETTER!
'AT SUITS ME AWRIGHT.
YOU HEARD THAT AGREEMENT, DIDN'T YOU, MA? YOU HEARD WHAT HE SAID?
YES – BUT – BUT.
SAY, LISTEN! HOW LONG ARE YOU TO HAVE THE CAR, FOR DOING HIS WORK FOR A WEEK?
WHY, FOR KEEPS! DO YOU THINK I'D DO ALL THAT WORK FOR JUST THE LOAN OF IT?
AND, YOU! HOW LONG IS SHE TO HAVE THE CAR, FOR DOING YOUR WORK FOR YOU?
WHY, JUST FER TONIGHT. GOOD GOSH! DO YOU THINK I'D LEAVE HER HAVE IT ANY MORE'N THAT FER JIS THAT LITTLE WORK?
THE DEAL IS OFF!

Little Orphan Annie — By Harold Gray

AN EDMONTON BULLETIN DAILY FEATURE

Little Orphan Annie
THERE'S MR. CHIZZLER- GEE- JUST LOOK AT HIM EAT-
WOW! WHAT A DINNER HE'S PUTTIN' AWAY- AND THAT'S A SPENSIVE PLACE, TOO THERE- HE'S PAYIN' TH' WAITER- JUST LOOK AT THAT ROLL O' BILLS- BIG ENOUGH TO CHOKE A HIPPOPOTAMUS- C'MON- LET'S GO, 'FORE HE SEES US-
I JUST SAW THAT GUY CHIZZLER, SPENDIN' DOUGH LIKE A MILLIONAIRE- I'LL BET HE'S NOT GIVIN' US ANYTHING LIKE OUR SHARE-
BUT, ANNIE- HE CAN'T CHEAT US- THERE'S THE CONTRACT-
YES- I KNOW- HE'S TO GET "FIFTY PER CENT OF THE GROSS FOR EXPENSES" AH, HERE IT IS- YES- AND HERE'S THAT PART- LISTEN-
GO ON, READ IT ALOUD, ANNIE-
"C.C. CHIZZLER, PARTY OF THE SECOND PART, SHALL RECEIVE FIFTY PER CENT OF THE GROSS RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES"- WHAT? "AND" EXPENSES?
"AND EXPENSES?" WHY, THAT'S WRONG-
"AND EXPENSES"- WHY, THAT MEANS HE GETS HALF AND PAYS ALL EXPENSES OUT O' OUR HALF- NO WONDER WE AREN'T GETTIN' BUT A FEW BUCKS A WEEK-
BUT THAT ISN'T THE CONTRACT WE SIGNED- I REMEMBER IT PERFECTLY-
YES- I KNOW, "UNCLE" DAN- I READ IT TO YOU- IT SAID HE WAS TO GET HALF FOR EXPENSES- BUT THIS IS WHAT WE SIGNED AND THIS SAYS "AND" EXPENSES-
WHY, ANNIE- ARE YOU SURE? THERE MUST BE SOME MISTAKE- HE COULDN'T DO THAT ON PURPOSE---
MISTAKE IS RIGHT- WE'VE BEEN GYPPED- BUT I DON'T SEE WHAT WE CAN DO ABOUT IT NOW- WE CAN'T PROVE HE TRICKED US- WE'RE STUCK- BUT LET ME THINK-
I WAS SURE WE WERE EARNING MORE THAN HE GAVE US- WE'LL TELL HIM AT ONCE-
TELL HIM- HUH- HE KNOWS IT- NO- WE'VE GOT TO DOPE OUT SOME OTHER WAY- SH-H- I HEAR SOMEBODY IN TH' HALL-
HA! HA! HELLO, ANNIE- I WAS JUST COMING UP TO CALL ON YOU-
YEAH? (WONDER HOW LONG HE'S BEEN STANDIN' THERE LISTENING)
MY-MY- YOUR ACT IS A WOW IN THIS TOWN- SEE WHAT THESE PAPERS SAY- WHY, WHAT'S THE MATTER?
PHOOIE- WE CAN'T SPEND NEWSPAPER CLIPPINGS- WHAT I WANT TO SEE IS TH' MONEY WE HAVE COMIN' TO US-
GREAT SCOTT! I TAKE YOU OFF THE STREET- TWO COMMON BEGGARS- I MAKE YOU FAMOUS- AND THIS IS THE THANKS I GET-HUH- WE GET TH' FAME AND YOU GET TH DOUGH- 'WELL, DON'T DO ANY MORE FAVORS FOR US- WE COULDN'T STAND IT-
